DEATH TOLL OF STORMS REACHES 19

Demoralized Train Service and Property Loss Reported in North, East As the Cold Wave Tightens Grip

New York Shivers As Frigid Spell Rides On 75-Mile Gale; 2 Perish in Chicago,
10 in Canada, 7 in Seattle

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 15.—The huge storm reported yesterday near Vancouver Island remained almost stationary, and the expected rain came only as far south as Northeastern Oregon. Heavy winds accompanied the disturbance, however, creating havoc in the shipping in the Northwest. Wind velocities were reported at North Head as 73 miles an hour, and at Tatoosh 60 miles an hour.

United States Forecaster E. A.
Beals again predicted rain from Central California northward for tonight and tomorrow. Storm warnings are continued at the seaports of the North Pacific.

DEATHS DUE TO STORMS

CHICAGO, Feb. 15.—(By International News Service).—Deaths, demoralized train service and property loss were reported today as the severe cold spell tightened its grip on the shivering west.

Two deaths were added to the toll taken by the cold wave in Chicago, where the mercury this morning was hovering at 5 below zero, the coldest since 1917.

Seven deaths have been reported as the result of the storm in the Northwest. Train service into Minneapolis and St. Paul is gradually being resumed.

Winnipeg dispatches reported a total of ten deaths directly due to a blizzard which swept Western Canada.

Calgary, Alberta, reported 39 below zero, and Prince Albert, Sask., was the low point with 45 below.

FUEL SITUATION WORSE: GALES INCREASE

NEW YORK, Feb. 15.—New York shivered today in the embrace of Old Man Winter. Riding on a 75-mile-an-hour gale, a cold wave swept from the northwest. This morning the temperature was 12 degrees above zero.

With the coal supply at a low ebb, officials are concerned at the fuel situation.

PITTSBURGH, Pa., Feb. 15.— (By International News Service).

The cold wave hit Pittsburgh hard this morning. At 9 o'clock the thermometer was at zero and still tumbling. Industrial plants were handicapped by a gas shortage, which was also responsible for suffering in many homes.

INTENSE FRIGID WAVE CONTINUES

WASHINGTON, Feb. 15.—(By International News Service).—No break in the cold wave prevailing in all sections of the country east of the Mississippi river will occur within the next twenty-four hours, the weather bureau announced today.

The intense cold will be tempered by generally fair weather in the States west of the Mississippi except in the lower lake regions, where snow flurries are probable,
the bureau said.

DETROIT, Feb. 15.—Telegraph wires that withstood yesterday's gale brought stories here today of railroad service abandoned, urban traffic paralyzed, schools closed and business halted, shivering crowds and populations still exerting their efforts against zero cold which grips Michigan today in the wake of the wind.

TWENTY INCHES OF SNOW NEAR SEATTLE

SEATTLE, Wash., Feb. 15.—Seattle today began shaking off the grip of the worst snowstorm in seven years. Milder temperatures prevailed and the "Silver Thaw," which at first assumed threatening proportions, was less menacing today. The death of Charles Ross, a director of the Seaboard National bank here and president of the Iditarod, Alaska, brought the total list of deaths resulting indirectly from the storm to seven. Ross dropped dead while shoveling snow in front of his residence.

Street car service was being restored, although tracks and trolley wires were still covered heavily with ice in many places. Hundreds of business men spent the night in

Hughes' Message Rapping China Cut at Dinner

Critical Remarks Over the Killing of U. S. Citizen
Not Read at Feast.

BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.
LEADS WIRE TO TRIBUNE.

NEW YORK, Feb. 15.—Notables, both Chinese and American, heard only part of a message written by Secretary of State Hughes and intended for delivery at the tenth annual dinner of the China Society of America last night.

The toastmaster, Professor Robert McElroy of Princeton, censored Hughes' message because, he said, he "did not want to offend any of the guests," many of whom were official representatives of the Chinese government in this country.
"I take pleasure in extending my cordial greetings to the members of China Society of America and in expressing my hope for the maintenance of the traditional friendship between the United States and China," the toastmaster read.

He omitted the following passage of Hughes' message:

I regret that these relations are at the present moment disturbed by the killing of an American citizen and the firing upon an American consul by Chinese soldiers and by the failure of the Chinese government to make any adequate response to the representations which this government has found it necessary to make with a view to the settlement of this very grave incident.

I can only hope that the Chinese government will ere long become conscious of its responsibilities in this matter and will make such response as will remove this shadow upon the mutually friendly feelings of the two peoples."

U. S. MERCHANT SLAIN BY SOLDIERS

The grave incident referred to in the telegram was understood to be the killing of Charles Colman, an American merchant, at Kalgan, just beyond the Chinese wall, by Chinese soldiers on December 11 last.

He was in an automobile with Samuel Sokobin, the American consul at Kalgan, and a friend carrying a sum of silver to Urga to buy furs when stopped by Chinese sentries, who fired when the party attempted to proceed.

Minister Schurman made representations to the Peking government demanding reparations, but at least a temporary deadlock between the two governments has ensued, partly due, it has been claimed in Peking, to the inability of the central government to compel the local authorities involved in the matter to take any action.

CHINESE CONSUL TALKS OF MATTER

Consul-General Chang of China was a speaker. When he concluded he went to an adjoining room, where reporters led him all of the Hughes' message.

Prefacing his comments with the reminder that he was not a diplomatic, but a commercial representative of his country to the United States, and therefore "not very familiar with the matter" to which Hughes alluded, Chang emphatically declared that "China always pays in full and rights all matters in which it is concerned."

The delay in the receipt of a diplomatic answer to Hughes' representations might be due, he thought, to the fact that China has since three new administrations since December, and is only now beginning to "surmount the many physical differences that normally appear in the path of political change."

To which Professor McElroy added: "China is something like first twenty-five years, when foreigners did not know whether they were dealing with one government or thirteen."

Allies Take Steps To Placate Turks

CONSTANTINOPLE, Feb. 15.—
(By International News Service).—
The situation at Smyrna continued quiet today. Investigation shows there is no truth in the report that a French destroyer had been sunk at Smyrna by fire from Turkish forces. It was reported here today that the allies are showing a more conciliatory attitude and a final agreement may soon be reached to supplant the temporary settlement arranged a week ago.

Allied officials are said to have informed the Turks they are willing to enter into fresh negotiations whereby warships may remain in the harbor, but in reduced numbers. Communications are taking place between them.

Tax on Americans Proposed; Rejected

LONDON, Feb. 15.—(By International News Service).—Chancellor of the Exchequer Baldwin today declined to entertain a proposal made in the House of Commons by Henry Lorimer, Conservative, for a tax upon American citizens visiting the United Kingdom.

Baldwin said that he could not entertain the proposal because it would be a discrimination against Americans and would be a disturbance to the friendly relations between the two countries.

British army of occupation of the Rhine will be recalled immediately if France insists upon taking over part of the area occupied by British troops, it was reported this afternoon. The cabinet is understood to have reached a decision in favor of withdrawing rather than maintain troops at Cologne, where there is continual danger of col-

LONDON, Feb. 15.—An urgent request for British co-operation in the Rhineland was made here today by M. Le Troquer, minister of military works in the French cabinet. It was understood Premier Bonar Law said he could announce no definite decision at this time. The conference, which was primarily arranged to settle differences over the French use of railways in the British area of military occupation on the Rhine, lasted two and one-half hours
when adjournment was taken.
Another session will be held tomorrow.

PARIS, Feb. 15.—Minister of Public Works Le Troquer, in his conference with Premier A. Bonar Law in London, will demand a "yes or no" answer as to whether Great Britain is going to aid or hinder France in the Rhineland and Ruhr, it was learned in semi-official quarters this afternoon. The government and financial circles are anxiously watching the outcome, for it is realized that a new crisis has developed in Anglo-French relations.

If England refuses to permit French military trains to pass through Cologne (trains manned and guarded by French troops),
M. Le Troquer will then ask that the map of occupied territories be revised and that the British turn over to the French the strip of soil holding the Dusseldorf-Dreuxen-Treves railway.

Newspapers supporting the government are pessimistic over the outcome of the London conference.

ESSEN, Feb. 15.—Five German officials will be arraigned before a French military tribunal tomorrow, charged with disobeying French military authorities.

The defendants are Mayor Ar-stein of Oberhausen, Director works, Acting Mayor Schaefer of Essen, Director Klein of the German police, and Chairman Guyon of the German retailers' association at Essen.

There are indications that the French and Belgians are taking definite steps to detach the Rhineland from Germany to be created into an independent, autonomous state under French protection.
From reliable German sources in Essen it is learned that the French are distributing rations throughout the Ruhr, telling the recipients that acknowledgment for the supplies is to be made to the "Rhine republic."

ACTUAL UPRISING FEARED IN GERMANY

AMSTERDAM, Feb. 15.—(By International News Service).—Hostility of the Germans against the French has risen to such a pitch, especially at Essen and in the industrial and mining towns in that district that the French are rushing military preparations to meet an actual uprising, according to information from the German frontier today.

Accident Fatal to Bicyclist, Aged 7

London Paper Charges Sec-

BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.
LEADS WIRE TO TRIBUNE.

LONDON, Feb. 15.—British commitments in Mesopotamia, which have been a cause of intense dissatisfaction among a large part of the public here, are all traceable to the influence of one woman, according to the Daily Express.

"The reason why the British taxpayer pours out his money in Arab lands," says the newspaper, "is a romantic one—the wonderful woman huntress, poetess, explorer and traveler, Miss Gertrude Low-thian Bell."

Recalling Miss Bell's numerous activities, especially in the Near East, the Express continues:
"Her last and greatest role is in politics. From Baghdad she has become the Egeria of the cabinet and to a great extent has even muzzled the opposition."

"For long she was pro-Turk, but in the excitement of the war she became an Arab partisan and a worshipper of the picturesque Prince Faisal. She was appointed secretary of the Arab bureau in Mesopotamia during the war and retains the post of Oriental secretary to the high commissioner."

"Her influence in the civil administration of Mesopotamia is paramount, but it is not confined to Baghdad. Two years ago Asquith threatened to take a strong line against the occupation of Mesopotania. Miss Bell wrote and told him that he did not understand the question, and there has since been no trouble."

tained a speed of 377.65 kilometers (234.65 miles) an hour for a distance of four kilometers. This eclipses the record established by Brigadier-General William Mitchell, assistant chief of the American air force, who flew 224.65 miles an hour at Snodgrass field, Mich., on October 18.

Prince of Wales Kisses Shattered Face of Veteran

LONDON, Feb. 15.—(By the Associated Press).—The story of a visit made by the Prince of Wales to a hospital where 26 hopelessly disabled war veterans are spending their days is printed by the Daily Mail today.

After seeing 23 of the men and offering them his condolences, the Prince asked where the other seven were. He was told that these were so shockingly mutilated that it was hardly desirable for him to see them. The Prince insisted and attendants accordingly took him into the ward. With each of the six whom he found there, the Prince chatted cheerfully, and then asked where the seventh was.
He was told that no one except the physicians and nurses were allowed to see this sufferer, who lay alone in still another ward.

The Prince expressed a desire to see him. The member of the hospital staff who related the story tried to dissuade his royal highness, but the Prince was insistent and was thereupon conducted into a little room. He waited firmly to the bedside, but turned very pale when he saw the afflicted veteran. For a few moments he stood with bowed head. Then he slowly stooped down and kissed the shattered face.

Ruhr Tangle May Re-unite Liberals

LONDON, Feb. 15.—(By the Associated Press).—The Asquithian and Lloyd George Liberals urged that the League of Nations appoint a commission on which the United States would be asked to have a representative to study Germany's capacity to meet her reparation obligations.

This proposal is to come before the House of Commons next Monday. The amendment, which has been agreed upon by both Liberal groups, requests the government to seek the assistance of the league in the present European situation and advocates that the proposed commission not only investigate Germany's capacity to pay but also consider how the payments may best be made. In parliamentary circles the agreement is looked upon as a step toward a Liberal fusion.

AID IS SENT STRANDED CRAFT

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 15.—(By United Press).—At noon, a sixth vessel—an unidentified three-masted schooner, was reported to the Merchants' Exchange in Vancouver, B. C., by radio, to have gone ashore three miles west of Carmanah Light on Vancouver Island. No details had been given.

VICTORIA, B. C., Feb. 15.—(By Associated Press).—With a life line about his body, Victor Hantopp, a member of the crew Santa Rita, ashore on a reef one mile east of Clo-Oose, on the west coast of Vancouver Island, leaped into the heavy sea and made shore after a heart-breaking fight with the waves. A breeches buoy was rigged and all members of the crew saved.
The Santa Rita is a wreck.

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 15.—(By International News Service).—
Little hope was held out this afternoon for saving the crew of sixty men on board the British steamer Tuscan Prince which went ashore early today on Point Tatousin, fifty miles north of Cape Flattery, on the Washington coast, in advices reaching Swayne & Hoyt, agents for the ship's owners.

The point at which the vessel hit is one of the most dangerous on the coast, huge rocks rising out of the water there. The tug Monarch is attempting to reach the wreck.

The last wireless message sent out by the Tuscan Prince said:
"Ship breaking up; we are going to drown."

SEATTLE, Wash., Feb. 15.—(By the Associated Press).—
Five ships met disaster in a storm that raged yesterday and last night in the Pacific ocean, off the coasts of Washington, Oregon and British Columbia, according to reports received up to noon today.

The British steamer Tuscan Prince went ashore near Estevan, Vancouver island, and the last report by wireless was that a number of lives were lost.

The same advices said the vessel would be a total loss.
The wooden ship Nika lost her rudder off Umatilla reef, south of Cape Flattery and later burned to the water's edge. The coast guard cutter Snohomish took off the thirty-four men in the crew.

The steamer Santa Rita went aground on Tatoosh island while seeking the Nika. The Santa Rita reported she is in no immediate danger.

The motor ship Coolcha is beyond salvage near Victoria, B. C., after running aground. The crew was removed.

A late report said a three-masted schooner was ashore five miles west of Carmanah light, Vancouver island and aid has been sent to her.

BREECHES BUOY SAVES SAILORS

Burning Ship's Crew Rescued
by Cutter When Death Was Near.

SEATTLE, Feb. 15.—(By Associated Press).—How three men, crew of the disabled steamer Nika, were rescued by an improvised breeches buoy rigged from the coast guard cutter Snohomish, just as their own vessel burst into flames, fore and aft, with a heavy sea making the launching of boats impossible, was told in a few terse radio messages from the Snohomish today.

The Nika, disabled when she drifted helplessly in the teeth of a fifty-mile gale, dangerously near the jagged rocks that mark Umatilla Reef, off the Washington coast.

In the meantime the Snohomish was steaming at full speed to the vessel's aid. With her radio apparatus out of commission so that the new alarm could not be given, the Nika was found to be afire in her forward hold.

"We are afire" was the last message from the ship, but there was no signature and no position.
As the Snohomish sighted the vessel the Nika burst into flames fore and aft. The sea was so rough that no small boat could breast it for longer than an instant, and the crew huddled together on the deck.

Captain Russell R. Wasche, commanding the Snohomish, saw the only chance for rescue and took it. Throwing the bow of the Snohomish as close as possible to the stern of the burning ship, he used an improvised breeches buoy to rescue the crew.

One by one the Nika's men placed themselves in the buoy, jumped into the sea and were hauled aboard the rescue vessel.
Three were slightly injured. "The best was intense," said the final message from the Snohomish, telling of the rescue.

The motorship Coolcha, aground near Victoria, B. C., was believed beyond salvage. Her position was dangerous. Her crew has been removed.

STEAMER BURNS, BUT CREW SAVED

The Nika, a wooden vessel, sent
S. O. S. calls last night reporting that she had lost her rudder off Umatilla reef, south of Cape Flattery, and was helpless before the gale. Later the Nika caught fire and burned. Her crew was taken off by the coast guard ship Snoho-mish.

The motorship Coolcha, aground
near Victoria, B. C., was believed beyond salvage. Her position was dangerous. Her crew has been removed.

All night the slacker stories traveled up and down the coast from the wireless sets of the distressed ships and from the shore stations.

The coast guard cutter Algonquin was searching for the Tuscan Prince this morning, while the steamer Kewanee, in sight of the Santa Rita at 6:30, was preparing to aid her.

HIGHWAYS BLOCKED BY DRIFTING SNOW

PORTLAND, Ore., Feb. 15.—(By International News Service.)—The entire Northwest is still snowbound today, but blizzard conditions have entirely subsided reports indicate.

Near-zero weather prevails in Eastern Oregon and Washington. Snow in many places is piled two and three feet and has blocked highways and railroads.

A 35-mile gale was reported off the coast at Astoria, and shipping is menaced in general. The worst storm in seven years abated about Vancouver and Victoria. B. C., last night when rain started falling. Fourteen inches of snow fell during the storm. Fifteen thousand loggers are idle pending melting of heavy snows in logging areas nearby.

City schools reopened here today and street car and train service is normal. The temperature is around 14 and 16 degrees above zero.

SEATTLE, Wash., Feb. 15.—(By the Associated Press.)—The Tuscan Prince, a British steamship, left San Francisco Sunday on a voyage from Antwerp to Seattle. She is a steel vessel of the Furness Frigate line. She is of 3293 net tons and 420 feet long, and was built in 1913.

It was believed here that the Tuscan Prince was probably somewhere between the Columbia river and Cape Flattery. This is along the Washington coast, where the coast guard cutter Snohomish, equipped with two powerful searchlights had been searching since before midnight for the steamer Nika, which yesterday afternoon reported from forty miles south of the Cape that she had lost her rudder.

DISABLED SHIP BURNS

SEATTLE, Wash., Feb. 15 (United Press).—Smothered by flames and drifting helplessly at sea at a point approximately three miles off Tatoosh Island, a vessel believed to be the wooden steamer Nika was sighted shortly before 9 o'clock this morning according to wireless reports reaching Seattle.

The Nika, bound for California ports with a cargo of Puget Sound lumber, wireless Wednesday afternoon that her rudder had been torn away in a storm ten miles north of the Umatilla lightship. The Nika was a wooden vessel engaged in the lumber trade.

The Nika was owned and operated by the Everett Packing Company. She was in command of Captain P. D. Johnson of San Francisco and carried a crew of 34. Advances to the Chamber of Commerce said here.

'Other Man' Named In Divorce Action

His wife, Mrs. Anna Altamirano has been keeping company with J. Henry Johnson, alleges Sylvester L. Altamirano in a suit for divorce on file today. He further charges that she treated the children with cruelty and unnecessary violence and has made several threats and attempts to kill him and herself. The husband says they were married in Livermore, October 19, 1907, and have three children, ages 1 year to 7 years, of whom he asks custody.

PIEDMONT, Feb. 15.—A general meeting of the citizens of Piedmont will be held in the Piedmont high school building tomorrow evening at 8 o'clock to discuss two important projects now holding the interest of the people of this city, the new charter election and the city center project.

The meeting will be held under the auspices of the Piedmont Civic Association. Mayor Oliver Ellis.

crew was safe aboard the tug Snohomish, but the vessel was a complete loss.

The Santa Rita, owned by Antonio Mahorev of San Francisco, carried a crew of about thirty men, her owners reported. She was believed here to have been seeking the Nika to give assistance when she struck on the rocks off Tatoosh Island.

The wooden ship Coolcha, which went ashore yesterday near Vancouver, carried a crew of twenty. The Tuscan Prince is in command of Captain Wolvers and arrived on the Pacific coast a few days ago from England. She was to discharge and load cargo at Seattle.

The Santa Rita has a crew of 29 men and is commanded by Captain Reifstad.

Steamer Sinking

Off Virginia Coast

NEW YORK, Feb. 15.—The Italian steamship Moncenisio, Norfolk, Va., for Marseilles, was sinking today about 510 miles east of Cape Henry, Va., according to wireless reports picked up here.

The steamer Carpiaka, New Orleans for Havre, picked up the Moncenisio's distress call when 77 miles from the sinking craft and shifted her course to go to the Moncenisio's assistance. The Moncenisio is a freighter of 3761 tons.

Schooner Sinking,

Ships Rush to Aid

NORFOLK, V., Feb. 15.—The schooner Friendship is sinking five miles off Oregon Inlet about 90 miles south of Virginia Beach, according to wireless reports received this afternoon by the coast guard here. The cutter Modoc from Wilmington, N. C., has been sent to her aid.

Bills Introduced For Loan to Astoria

WASHINGTON, Feb. 15.—A bill proposing a government loan of $1,000,000 to the City of Astoria, Oregon, to assist in the reconstruction of the fire swept area there, was introduced today by Representative Hawley, Republican Oregon.

It is a substitute for a measure proposing a federal gift of that amount, which is before the House military committee. Senator McNary, Republican, Oregon introduced a similar bill in the Senate.

WALLES BUILDING FORTUNE

LONDON.—The Prince of Wales is said to have made investments during the last few years that almost double his private fortune. He will speak on the new charter Attorney W. I. Brobeck will talk on the topic of the proposed city center. Following the talks the meeting will be thrown open for a general discussion of the two projects.

OMAHA IN RUINS; LOSS 2 MILLIONS

Firemen Hurdled From Wall
Tops As Ammonia Tanks Are Exploded.

OMAHA, Neb., Feb. 15 (By International News Service).—After a loss of between $1,500,000 and $2,000,000, fire which has raged for 24 hours in the packing plant of Armour & Co. at South Omaha broke out afresh this morning and ate its way through the fire wall protecting units 20 and 21 of the plant. At 10 o'clock it was believed these buildings were doomed. The loss at that hour, officials said, exceeded $2,000,000. This is the worst fire in the history of the packing industry.

The main packing house, a nine-story structure, was gutted and three smaller adjoining units were completely destroyed, with an $800,000 stock of cured and fresh meats. Half a dozen firemen were injured. Among those sent to hospitals are James D. Green, assistant chief and Captain Michael Belitz and Thomas Casey.

More than 1000 Armour employees are out of jobs.

Exploding ammonia tanks hurled firemen from tops of walls to the ground, resulting in painful injuries to several men. Fumes drove the firemen back and when the play of water temporarily ceased the flames got a new start.

So bitter was the cold that firemen were frozen fast to their lines and literally insulated in cakes of ice. Charred walls, swaying with burdens of caked ice increased the danger to firemen.

Announcement was made at the offices of O. C. Willis, Omaha manager for the Armour, that it would be necessary to rebuild nearly the entire plant.

Germans Boast of Coal They Smuggle

DUSSELDORF, Feb. 15.—(By the Associated Press.)—The Germans are boasting that since February 6, unoccupied Germany has been receiving more Ruhr coal than France and Belgium. They point proudly to the statement that during the past week sixty railroads have been shipped out.

Occupation authorities say that actually the Germans managed to get through only forty railcars which went into the interior over private lines leading from the mines and by other routes which the allies had not controlled properly. The French announce that all such gateways into the interior have been closed and that the customs risk which aims to shut off from the unoccupied region all supplies of coal and metals now is welded tightly.

Berlin Can't Pay, Vanderlip Avers

LOS ANGELES, Feb. 15.—(By International News Service.)—Bankers and business-men of Los Angeles were discussing today the speech of Frank A. Vanderlip, New York financier, wherein he told 200 members of the University club that he hoped America would keep out of the Franco-German "mess," but that he feared such a course would be impossible. Continuing he said: "The payment of $32,000,000,000 in gold marks by Germany is an impossibility. I think France will succeed only in dismembering Germany."

Allen Makes Last Call on Degoutte

DUSSELDORF, Feb. 15.—(By the Associated Press.)—Major General Henry T. Allen, who was in command of the American forces in the Rhineland, and who with General Gordon last Monday for the United States, yesterday paid a farewell visit to General Degoutte. General Allen motored from Coblenz to Dusseldorf, and luncheon with General Degoutte and returned to Coblenz during the afternoon.

Youngest Rabbi in Country is to Speak at Club

RABBI ALFRED G. LAFEE, youngest Jewish divine in the United States, who will address the Alumni Club of Temple Sinai.

Alumni Arrange for Jewish Divine's Address at Reception.

The Alumni Club of Temple Sinai will be honored on Sunday evening next by the presence of Rabbi Alfred G. Lafee, a native son of the Golden State and the youngest Jewish divine in the country.

Rabbi Lafee is but 23 years of age and recently has been elected for a term of three years as pastor of the Congregation Ohabei Shalom of San Francisco.

His visit to Oakland, for the purpose of addressing the young people of the Alumni Club is a notable occasion and an enthusiastic reception is sure to be accorded him.

After the address, dancing and refreshments will follow. President Irving W. Alkus of the club, under whose auspices the affair is to be given, aided by Advisor Morris Schneider, has had charge of all arrangements, and Covenant Hall of the Temple Sinai undoubtedly will hold its record amount.

"FROM MORN TO MIDNIGHT" IS TOO NOISY

BERKELEY, Feb. 15.—Because actors in Irving Pichel's "Playhouse" production of "From Morn to Midnight" took their play too literally and the declared to have reversed the clock, the police were summoned at an early hour this morning.

Residents of the Morrill apartments, which are located above the Berkeley Theater, Shattuck avenue at 14th street, where the "Playhouse" productions are being given, declare that after every performance it is impossible for them to get sleep.

At 2 o'clock this morning the complaints of the apartment dwellers took official form, and Officers Gordon and Penning were detailed to see that the noise was abated. According to the apartment dwellers their peace is disturbed regularly between 11 p. m. and 3 a. m. every time a performance of "The Playhouse" is held. Orders were today given by Chief of Police Vollbrecht that the alleged nuisance be abated, and residents of the community are assured their sleep will be protected.

RAIL IN'S "RED PLOT" CHARGES STYLED UNTRUE

CHICAGO, Feb. 15.—(By United Press.)—Allen O. Meyers today declared charges made by A. A. Ballin, connecting the Burns Detective Agency with framed evidence against reds were untrue.

Meyers, manager of the radical investigation bureau of the Burns agency and accused by Ballin of directing "planting" of evidence, appeared unexpectedly while Ballin was being questioned for depositions to be presented at trials of alleged communists seized in raids at Bridgman, Mich.

Both prosecution and defense attorneys agreed to take Meyers' position when cross-examination Ballin was completed.

Ballin had declared that Meyers plotted to have bombs thrown leading men, ordered threatened letters sent to them and otherwise incited "reds" to violence in order to obtain larger sums from business men for investigation purposes.

William Z. Foster, noted Chicago labor leader, charged with being a legate to the Michigan convention of communists at Bridgman, will be the "first of seventeen radicals" to be placed on trial, it was actually decided today. Foster refused to comment on the trial other than to say he would be present when his case was called.

Miners Quit in Pay Controversy

By WEBB MILLER, United Press Staff Correspondent. PARIS, Feb. 15.—French and Belgian miners quit work by thousands today in a strike over wages.

While the general strike declared by the French Miners' Federation does not start officially until tomorrow, workers at many pits stopped as soon as word of the plan reached them. Several thousand Belgian workers walked out at Cuesmes in connection with a nation-wide demand for a twenty-five percent increase in wages.

The French press today expressed fear that Germany would interpret the coal strike as encouragement of resistance in the Ruhr. The Petit Parisien appeals to the patriotism of the workers not to give the Germans this much hope.

His only chance of escape from conviction on charges of perjury and criminal libel is for him to plead insanity," Burns said. "We are ready to file the charges as soon as he finishes telling his story. The matter of his deportation is up to the government."

mal libel when he finishes his testimony in Chicago, where he has alleged the Burns Detective Agency "framed" red plots, W. Sherman Burns announced today. Ballin's deportation to Russia will also be sought. He has only taken out first naturalization papers, Burns said, and he can be exiled if proven a perjurer.

DAVE ADVOCATES

Mayor Davis today issued a proclamation calling attention to the Snow African game pictures seen to be on exhibition in Oakland.

To the People of Oakland: On Saturday night, February 17, the Snow African Expedition pictures will be exhibited in Oakland for the first time. These motion pictures, taken by Henry A. Snow on his African expedition, depict natural life in Africa in a most interesting and instructive manner.

Today Mr. Snow is devoting his energies in mounting the specimens he has brought back from the Dark Continent for exhibition in a museum building in our own city. He has given this wonderful collection to Oakland under the one condition that we provide a fire-proof building in which to house the specimens.

I know that our people have an active interest in the collection which has been given to us and which is now housed temporarily at 274 Nineteenth street. Mr. Snow's plans call for mounting them in a natural and life-like manner in the new building to be constructed.

THE VALUE OF MILLS

AS CITIZENSHIP FACTOR REGITED

College Supplies Most Important Essential, Declares Bank Official.

Mills College supplies the most important essential of the higher type of citizenship through its vital work in character building among young women, declared S. H. Kitto, vice-president of the First National Bank and a member of the central committee, in commenting on the Mills College endowment campaign today.

The campaign opens tomorrow night and will continue until February 25 for the purpose of raising $400,000 needed to complete a million dollar endowment fund. The fund is to be permanently invested and the interest, amounting to approximately $50,000, will be used exclusively for teachers' salaries.

Kitto declared that Mills adds more "visible" worth to quality of character, aids Oakland to contribute to the nation in a greater degree than any avenue through which we have an opportunity to work. He said:

In all activities it is well to consider the commercial viewpoint, but it is not always proper to give it a commanding position. There are many fundamentals that are extremely more essential when weighed in their relationship to results obtained. I do not think it can be argued that the commercial aspect takes precedent over the qualities which go to make up the very foundation and stability of the nation.

The importance of the position taken by women in the development of character starts first; it takes a place in advance of men. The training of the child is always under the control of the mother and to have the mother higher ideals to the child begets for our country a higher type of citizenship.

Mills College supplies the most important essential. It stands out fully in the foreground as one of the leading institutions for women in the United States and California—particularly Oakland—may proudly claim distinction by having within its limits a character builder of such recognized reputation.

It cannot be said that Oakland does not recognize its responsibility or will hesitate in meeting the call of Mills College. We must maintain the standard that has been set and loyally work to advance, not only the position of Mills College, but Oakland, too.

Judging from the demand for transportation tickets to the symphony matinee concert tomorrow afternoon, there will not be many vacant seats in Oakland's auditorium when a featured Hertz baton over the ninety men who make up the San Francisco symphony orchestra promptly at 2:45 p. m. All this according to Miss Z. W. Potter, who has the affair in charge and who expects an attendance far in excess of first concert, which 5000 young people attended.

Hertz has arranged a wonderful program for the children, each number being a musical gem readily understandable and of universal appeal.

While most of the audience will be made up of students of the Oakland public schools, insistent demands for tickets have come in from outlying districts and large delegations are expected from Hayward, San Leandro, Alameda, Berkeley and Piedmont. The Oakland Traction company will again transport this child to the auditorium and home again free of charge which together with the low price of admission, make it possible for hundreds to attend these concerts who might otherwise never be able to hear a large symphony orchestra of any kind.

The entire musical department of the Oakland schools is co-operating and together with the principals and teachers will handle the vast crowd expected tomorrow. The program follows:

1. Overture "Past and Present"
2. Menuet..... Beethoven
3. Hungarian Dance No. 5 in G Minor..... Brahms
4. Rhapsody from "Sylvia"..... Debussy
5. Andante from "Peer Gynt" Suite..... Grieg
6. Love's Joy..... Kreisler
7. Serenade..... Mozowski
8. Traumerel..... Schumann
9. Entre Act Prelude from "Carmen"..... Bizet

DENTAL STUDENT BANDIT VICTIM

Three masked and armed bandits held up M. B. Williams, a dental student in the Affiliated Colleges in San Francisco, who was sitting with a young woman in an automobile parked at Seminary and Calaveras avenues about midnight last night.

As the bandits' machine drove near Williams' automobile the driver threw the spot light on the couple, drove alongside and covered them with revolvers. Williams was ordered to get out of the car. He was covered by a revolver while a second bandit searched him.

Williams was robbed of $15, a communication book and a book containing notes on dentistry. As the machine containing the bandits was driving away Williams and his companion took the number of the car. Several blocks from the scene of the hold-up they met Policeman A. A. Salmonson, to whom they reported the robbery. Williams resides at 2710 Telegraph avenue, Berkeley.

LITTLE TIJUANA CONSIDERATE TO THEir VICTIMS UNLUCKY VICTIMS

Those Who "Go Broke" Are Given Carfare, "Eats," to Build Up Friendships.

(The following is the second of a series of articles, exposing the gambling situation at the country's border—"Little Tijuana"—and the inner workings of the greatest and most complicated gambling game on earth—the Chinese lottery.)

ARTICLE II.

"The heathen Chinese is peculiar."

—Bret Harte.

The wily Chinese are not greedy to the point of avarice. They are philosophical. It is part of their game. Heavy losers—and they are many and frequent—may quit feverish efforts to beat the poker-faced Chinese. The gamekeeper at chuck-a-luck, without a cent in their pockets, but almost invariably the Chinese will seek them out and give them car fare to Oakland or San Francisco, sufficient for a meal and a night's lodging.

"Well, they're decent, anyway."

—The reasoning of the losers. The Chinese know the trend of their thoughts. They will come again.

FREE LUNCH COUNTERS.

The old-time "free lunch" counters of the saloon days are to be found. Meals are furnished free. Food, the keepers have found out, has a quieting effect on some of those who become maddened and threaten revenge as a result of their losses. Too, it provides some diversion while players wait for drawings, and some there are who wait for hours. The Chinese regard the slightest whim of their patrons. They cannot play while hungry. Once more, it is their scheme. Word of the free lunch counters have spread, and daily twenty to a hundred unemployed from Oakland make the gambling dens their "hangout." Their sole object is something to eat. Never are they denied food. Monthly the Chinese spend thousands of dollars on food alone. Everything they use in maintaining their illegal establishments is purchased locally. They patronize home industry. It minimizes opposition. These two great lottery "joints"

The Wares of the Chinese Lottery Lords

SEVERAL specimens of the Chinese lottery tickets sold to the visitor of "Little Tijuana." Purchase of these mysterious slips of paper entitles the buyer to try his luck with the most complicated gambling game known. Picture at the upper left shows the ticket as it is bought, unmarked. At the right, the ticket is shown after it has been marked by the brush furnished at the marking tables. Then it is turned back to the paying teller. At the left of the second row is shown what is termed as the "key" ticket. Also shown are the "customers cards," passed out directly by the Orientals to loyal patrons of their establishment and showing the prices of tickets and the winnings. These cards are given only to veteran players, and only a few are in circulation. The eighty characters, which are the same on every lottery ticket, are the first eighty characters of the Chinese alphabet, which consists of some 5000. The inner workings of this game will be explained in tomorrow's article.

CHINESE GAMING HOUSES FOSTER PUBLIC OPINION

Every Possible Step Taken to Prevent Incurring Wrath of Patrons, Citizens.

Certo officials to make a cleanup that will cleanse and newspaper stories of raids have all combined to reveal to the public the daring, profitable score for California's laws that have netted thousands to the operators.

Appeals to Governor Friend W. Richardson to invoke his authority and clean up the Alameda-Contra Costa border of what they term "an insult to Americanism" have been sent to Sacramento by members of the Thousand Oaks Baptist church of Berkeley and the Contra Costa Christian Endeavor Association. The Berkeley church's action came after its pastor, Rev. A. C. Ehrig, had visited the places.

But these altogether different and modern gambling halls are doomed. The abatement may do it.

CHINESE NEW YEAR.

True, the establishments are not now operated. Contra Costa special officers have made periodical visits to see that they are closed since two weeks ago, when nearly 1000 men were driven from the places. Officials hope that the visits will be the deterrent they have sought. But those in close touch with the Chinese give a knowing wink and remark:

"Yes, sure, they are closed. But this is Chinese New Year, you know. They won't run then. Oh, they'll be back."

Their sincerity, their evident knowledge of plans tell that, although the Chinese obscurity scheme has failed, their scorn of the law, that would keep them from all their ill secured gains, is not dulled. The Chinese gambling joints of "Little Tijuana" will be operating again—that is sure.

But it is only a question of how long. Senator Will R. Sharkey of Martinez hopes to provide the "teeth" in an abatement law to close such places. Sharkey's abatement bill is up for action when the legislature reconvenes.

If it passes, so does "Little Tijuana," and the local gaming center, conducted with a boldness that is astounding, will become but a matter of history of operation of the most unique gambling establishment ever undertaken and maintained in California.

And the net of identity of ownership, so essential in abatement, is being drawn close about the men who have profited most.

(Tomorrow's article, the last of the series exposing the gambling situation at the county's border, and the method of operation of the various dens, will explain the complicated lottery system—how tickets are bought, how they are marked and how the actual gambling is done. These tickets, before a law was passed making it illegal to have them in one's possession, were widely sold throughout the state, particularly in the Eastbay region. Peddlers canvassed private residences and even business establishments, and the demand and the desire to try "chuck" the game was astonishing.)

LOOKOUTS OUTWITTED.

But the keen Chinese scheme of obscurity has failed. Trained lookouts stationed at doors have misread in some of the persons they have admitted. The desire of El have not been the only ones in Contra Costa. Others of smaller caliber have opened, flourished for a time in Richmond Annex, until raids came and timid operators, or possibly because they were less astute than their bigger brethren, decided it best not to risk further scorn of the law.

SOME ARE SUPPORTERS.

Some there are on the Alameda-Contra Costa border—and in El Cerrito, too—who are openly opposed to disturbing the Orientals. Others are secretly against interference with their operations.

"Since the Chinese have come some of the bootleggers have gone. There is less trouble. In fact, there never is trouble with the Chinese," is the defense put forward by some. "They spend lots of money here, they lay from nearby merchants and they furnish work for skilled tradesmen."

Still, it is the scheme of the clever owners.

No enemies are made, friendships are cultivated. It is the cunning that for months has not only brought thousands to the Oakland lottery princes from Alameda and Contra Costa, but from other up-to-date dives they maintain in San Jose, San Mateo and in Emeryville.

RIKED OPEN AFTER FINES.

The two real raids that have been made on the establishments were directed by Constable George Conlon and City Marshal A. H. MacKinnon. County officers were called in. A score of Chinese were arrested. They spent but one night in the county jail at Martinez. Early the next morning polished limousines, occupied by limousine drivers, were parked before the justice court, waiting for the doors to open.

Sentences of fines, ranging from $200 to $300, were pronounced. Choking bill folds came promptly from the pockets of the Chinese. The fines were quickly and cheerfully paid—the Chinese operators were free again.

"The places were not operated for a few days, but shortly they opened again and in their resumption of play seemed larger, through their short period of inactivity. "Visited" by officers saw hundreds driven from the establishments on other occasions, but no arrests were made. The places opened again the next day.

Thousands invested.

Thousands of dollars have been invested. The first "joint" was placed in operation in June, 1922. A $5000 building was constructed, but a prompt raid by El Cerrito officers closed the place. A six-story across San Pablo avenue, an old hotel building shuttling on the Alameda county line, was purchased for $15,000. It provided ample room for a time. Business increased so rapidly that a $20,000 addition was built. A secret doored to a creek bed and into Alameda county. It was for convenience and safety of patrons, but it seldom has been used. Attracted by the money that rolled into the coin bags of the pioneers of this "Little Tijuana," another set of Chinese opened "The Paris," a former saloon. Then a third establishment made its appearance. The latter two effected a partnership and a building, housing a soft drink parlor, a billiard room and a store, was acquired. At first but one section was used. Business continued to increase, and the crowds that journeyed to "Little Tijuana" grew. It was a matter of days until the billiard parlor and the store gave way to increased lottery tables and new paying tellers' windows. Then an addition became necessary and with it came a convenient exit into Alameda county.

LOOKOUTS OUTWITTED.

But the keen Chinese scheme of obscurity has failed. Trained lookouts stationed at doors have misread in some of the persons they have admitted. The desire of El

JURORS PEER INTO THROAT OF FAIR PLAINTIFF

To sit with her head thrown back and an electric light lighting up the interior of her throat while the members of the jury filed past and looked at her tonsils was the unusual experience today of Mrs. Mae Hall, plaintiff in an $11,352 damage suit against Dr. William F. Weller.

Mrs. Hall claims that Dr. Weller was hired to perform an operation for the removal of her tonsils. She alleges that she was compelled to submit to a second operation and that in neither the tonsils. On the other hand she alleges that she was seriously injured by the operation.

Dr. W. C. Pruitt was called today as a witness and was asked to point out in medical parlance the condition of the throat. This he did while the jurors filed past and looked.

COWBOYS, PLANES AND HOUNDS NAB ALLEGED SLAYERS

Pair Accused of Killing Sheriff Captured After Air Day Search.

BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.

EL PASO, Tex., Feb. 15.—How cowboys and peace officers on foot, on horseback and in automobiles, aided by two army airplanes and bloodhounds ran down last evening after an all-day search, the alleged slayers of Sheriff W. L. Rutherford of Otero county, New Mexico, was told today by members of the posse.

Rutherford was killed when attempting to arrest the men.

The fugitives who were captured eight miles from Otero, N. M., late yesterday begged for water, saying they were perishing, but they got none, for the posse took no water along.

"Had there been but 10 or three, we would have shot it out with you. But there were too many of you," one of the men said, according to members of the posse.

District Attorney J. Benson Newell of Alamogordo, N. M., said the correct names of the prisoners are W. G. Lafavors and C. H. Smelter, and that both are from Amarillo, Texas. The men were taken to Alamogordo.

"The first intimation we had that we were in touch with the fugitives was when we were fired upon," said Seela Oliver, of Alamogordo, a postman and a member of the posse. "We dropped to the ground and returned the fire. After an exchange of shots during which several men advanced steadily, we found places where the fugitives had fallen down and then continued in an effort to escape."

"In following their trail, we had discovered that they had circled over the mountains, doubtless in an effort to reach Mexico. Their trail then had led back toward the railway tracks. The men a short time later were discovered waving a white under-shirt and surrendering."

Wife Freed; Husband Kept Up Two Homes.

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 15.—After the testimony of Mrs. Dozier and her two daughters, to the effect that Dr. Charles A. State Budget to Be Debated at Dinner

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 15.—The much discussed budget of Governor Friend W. Richardson, will be debated in a public debate at the Hotel St. Francis tonight, by Mrs. Nellie B. Pierce, member of the State Board of Control, who was the main compiler of the document.

A. R. Heron, deputy director of education, who recently declared that the budget was "full of errors," will speak against it. The debate will be under the auspices of the Commonwealth Club.

Resolutions calling upon the Governor not to cut out this appropriation, or that are rolling in upon the gubernatorial offices from all parts of the State, and the various teachers' colleges especially are the subject dealt with in the resolution.

Hawaiian Member Of Congress on Way

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 15.—H. W. Jarrett, newly-elected member of Congress for the territory of Hawaii arrived here yesterday en route to Washington.

Jarrett, who succeeds the late Prince Kalaniana'ole as a Democrat, and defeated John H. Wise, Republican, who had the active support in his campaign of Princess Elizabeth Kalaniana'ole. Jarrett is a descendant of the territory's oldest chiefs.

Jarrett has been high sheriff of the territory, and has acquired fame as an authority on prison reform. In his campaign for congress he was opposed by the "sugar barons."

S. F. Society Woman Sued For Lingerie

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 15.—Mrs. Violeta Levy Schwartz, local society woman and divorced wife of Jack Schwartz, a broker, was sued yesterday by a New York firm for $298.12. Mrs. Schwartz operated an exclusive lingerie shop in San Francisco. The suit instituted by the New York firm is said to have been based on lingerie purchased by Mrs. Schwartz for her shop.

Mt. Tamalpais Road Opens 1923 Season

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 15.—Operations for the 1923 season were resumed today by the Mount Tamalpais and Muir Woods railway which leads to the summit of Mt. Tamalpais. F. C. Whitmore, general passenger agent of the company, stated that the spring schedule was beginning two weeks earlier than usual this year.

Theft of Necklace Blamed On Mother

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 15.—Captured after a chase of several blocks Mrs. Maria Maltas, mother of a 9-year-old boy, was arrested yesterday and is being held today in the city prison on a charge of stealing a pearl necklace and $5 from the apartment of Mrs. Regina Brooks, 1523 Sutter street. According to the police the woman who is the wife of a former Oakland restaurant proprietor, admitted the theft, saying that she was looking for an apartment and saw the door opened and entered.

Passing of Flapper Foretold By Artist

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 15.—The "flapper" is a type of yesterday, according to Walter Jarrett, Australian artist, who is in San Francisco on his way to New York. He commented on modern San Francisco girls as follows: "Surprisingly lovely—a flash of old Spain—a touch of Anglo-Saxon calm—a rare combination of pose and vivacity—dramatic complexion—lissom—sun-warmed—children of Nature among the highest arts of modern civilization."

Dry Agent Accused Of "Booze" Parties

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 15.—E. H. Miller, a Federal prohibition agent, was accused yesterday in Federal Judge Robert S. Beatty's court of using a private home to hold "booze" parties. Attorney William B. Hornblower stated that Miller went with his friends at various times to the home of Mrs. Mabel Vallee, 954 Valencia street. Hornblower appeared in court as attorney for Mrs. Vallee, who was being held on a bootlegging charge. Mrs. Vallee's case was continued and an investigation of the accusations against Miller ordered by Judge Beatty.

Peninsula Highway Widening Endorsed

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 15.—City officials and other local civic leaders have unanimously endorsed the plan of the California State Automobile association to widen the peninsula highway to 40 feet in order to relieve congested traffic conditions. At the next meeting of the State Highway Commission, Chairman Harvey M. Toy will officially present the plan of widening the highway. The purpose of the project is to provide temporary relief of traffic congestion while the work of financing and building another road is under way.

HEAD OF WILLS COLLEGE TALKS AT UNIVERSITY

Dr. Aurelia Reinhardt Tells Women Students to Act As Individuals.

BERKELEY, Feb. 15.—Speaking to a citizenship mass meeting of women students of the University of California yesterday, Dr. Aurelia Reinhardt stressed the importance of individualism as the most dominant phase of a good citizen's work.

Of the present-day tendency to form clubs and organizations, rather than to work as an individual, the noted educator said: "The vocabulary has been coined by petty people seeking a picturesque name to hang on themselves. It's 'just one does as an individual' that is the only value."

Reform legislation was held the most important phase of the woman voters' work. Dr. Reinhardt urged that interest in politics be preceded by intelligent home management.

Other points of her advice to those intending to embark on a political career were:

"In this twentieth century world of ours it is wonderful and altogether fascinating to be a woman. Our battles for suffrage have been fought and won for us, and all we need to do is to carry on. In the world of intelligence, there is no sex. Women should realize this and act as individuals. The two greatest sins women can make against democracy, and in fact often does, are: To forget to register, and to sentimentalize the vote. Don't do either."

FIRE DAMAGE $100.—Damage of $100 was caused yesterday afternoon by a roof blaze at the Kappa Kappa Gamma Sorority house, 2725 Channing way. An overhead stove is declared to have caused the blaze.

The anti-slavery society was first founded in 1823.

Cards Received For Bridge Tea in March

Invitations have been received for a bridge tea which Miss Marjorie Smith will give the afternoon of March 2 at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. James Hodge Smith of Van Buren street. About sixty have been bidden to meet Miss Mildred Cook, whose marriage to Ralph Stevenson Lorimer, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Lorimer of this city, will be an event of the post Easter tide. Miss Smith is herself one of the season's engaged girls, and is betrothed to Howell Lovell. Their wedding is planned for the coming fall.

Mrs. Wallace Scott is entertaining at her home on Sunnyslope avenue at bridge on Saturday afternoon in honor of Miss Vera Beach, who is leaving in March for her home in Wisconsin.

Miss Beach is a graduate of the University of California, and a member of the Chi Omega Sorority. Assisting Mrs. Scott receiving will be Mrs. Howard Swales and Mrs. Girvin Wait.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter S. Garrett left today for the southern part of the state where they are to make their home. They were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Garrett Sr. in Alameda for the past two weeks, during which time many social affairs were given in their honor.

The newly married couple plan to return again to the bay region in April when they will be en route to Portland, Oregon, for a visit with the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Wood MacLean of that city.

Miss Helen Rounds and Miss Dora Duveneck returned this week from a sojourn in the Truckee River country where they enjoyed sleighing and skiing and witnessed one of the heaviest snow storms in that part of the country in years.

ARRIVES FROM THE SOUTH.

Miss Anna Bradburne Mackinlay, fiancée of Arven Polhemus of Sacramento, and her mother, Mrs. Robert Mackinlay of Santa Barbara, have arrived in the bay region for a visit, dividing their time with the John Mackinlay of San Francisco and the William Krolls of Kingston avenue, Kingston of the benedict. Miss Mackinlay will stay but a few days while her mother will extend her visit to a fortnight or longer.

Tomorrow evening Mr. and Mrs. Jack Okell will be hosts at a dinner and evening of bridge, a score of close friends to meet Miss Flora Edwards and her fiancé, Wayne Hinson.

Miss Edwards with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ambrose Edwards and her brother Ambrose accompanied by Hinson, will leave Saturday for Los Angeles where they will be guests at the marriage of Dr. Alfred Hinson, brother of Wayne Hinson, and Miss Frances Doran on February 21.

Mrs. Baxter Rice Sharp of San Francisco will entertain the afternoon of March 2 at the Woman's Athletic club across the bay in compliment to a bride-elect, Miss Alma Smith. Miss Smith is the fiancée of James Warner Chambers of San Jose and a daughter of Mr. Robert Russell Smith of Berkeley.

Mrs. Donald Kleffer will be hostess Saturday afternoon at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Stephen

MISS GERTRUDE EMMONS, who will assist her sister, Miss Gladys Emmons, with an Oriental evening at their home, February 28. —Tracy Webb Home Portrait.

On February 21, Mrs. Victor Doyle will entertain a score of friends at a bridge luncheon, this affair being to be in honor of Miss Park.

In honor of Miss Janet Knox, bride-elect, a luncheon was given this afternoon by Mrs. Thompson Price at her home in Prince street. Places were set for eight of the closest friends of the bride-elect.

Dog Trainer Freed On S. P. C. A. Charge

SAN LEANDRO, Feb. 15.—E. H. Murray, a dog trainer of San Francisco, was released under suspended sentence by Judge W. J. Gannon yesterday, on a charge brought by W. H. Gibson, head of the Society of Prevention of Cruelty to Animals, Oakland, of failure to properly care for a number of his canines, left in the care of Mrs. Hazel Hafner, Washington avenue, this city.

Murray left eleven of his animals here with the understanding that he would return in two days with means for their support. He said he was unable to effect a return for two weeks. In the meantime, the dogs contracted colds and distemper, and through a misunderstanding with the society, were shot. It was shown that Murray had spent his last cent in leaving sufficient food with the animals to feed them for the two days.

Growers of Rhubarb To Meet This Week

SAN LEANDRO, Feb. 15.—A meeting of members and prospective members of the California Rhubarb Growers Association, now under organization in this part of the county is expected the latter part of the week, at which officers will be elected and plans of the organization arranged for the year's activities.

With an amended and revised marketing agreement, signed from F. N. Bigelow of the San Francisco division of markets the association can proceed. Canvass of a committee throughout the district has netted a large number of members, with still more expected as the organization begins to function.

Income Tax Expert Assists Citizens

SAN LEANDRO, Feb. 15.—After two days spent here, during which time he assisted San Leandrians in filling their income tax blanks, C. E. Sorenson, deputy revenue collector, went to Hayward today. He will be stationed through Saturday at the Bank of Hayward there. Monday he will be at Alvarado, and Tuesday and Wednesday at Centerville. Thursday he will be at Washington's Birthday, a holiday on Friday, and will be at Irvington on Saturday and Monday, February 26. The following day he will be at Niles, and Wednesday and Thursday will be stationed at Pleasanton. Friday and Saturday, March 2 and 3, he will be at Livermore.

Special Services Planned For Lent

SAN LEANDRO, Feb. 15.—During the Lenten season, mass will be observed each morning at 8 o'clock at the St. Leander's Catholic church here. In addition, special services will be conducted each Wednesday, Friday and Saturday nights. Ash Wednesday services were observed last night at 7:30 o'clock at the church with distribution of ashes and other ceremonial attendant on the annual occasion.

Thetas to Hold Annual Reunion At Luncheon

The Kappa Alpha Thetas will celebrate the fifty-third anniversary of the founding of the woman's fraternity Saturday, a luncheon to be given at the Fairmont Hotel at one o'clock. It will be the occasion for all Thetas living in San Francisco and neighboring cities to foregather. The fraternity was founded at DePauw University, Greencastle, Indiana, in 1870, and was the first Greek letter fraternity for women. A few colleges had opened their doors to women in education, they also wished the same liberty in social organizations. The four founders, Alice Allen, Jennie Fitch, Bettie Tipton and Bettie Locke—the last two being faculty daughters—met in an upstairs room of a small house which is still standing in the quaint little town of Greencastle, and aided by the advice of their fathers and encouraged by Dr. Ridpath, the famous historian, drew up the first constitution. When they appeared in chapel wearing the black and gold Kite, they allowed it to be inferred that a charter had been granted to them from some Eastern college. Not for years was it known that it originated in that little Middle Western institution. Two of the founders—Jennie Fitch Shaw and Bettie Locke Hamilton—are living today to see the fraternity grown to a great national organization, with chapters in all the prominent colleges and thousands of members.

Each year Founders' Day becomes more and more a time to renew old vows, old friendships, and to take again a light from the altar fires.

The last chapter to be installed is at the University of Nevada. A group of members are coming to be present at the luncheon. They are the Misses Euphemia Mack, Marian Muth, Alva Quillie, Alma Backe and Adele Clemens. An attractive program has been arranged. Mrs. Maude Cleveland Woodworth will be the mistress of ceremonies. One of the speakers will be Mrs. Elizabeth Hogue Moon, who will tell about the work of the Woman's League of which she is president. There will be a musical program under the direction of Miss Mary Clark. The active girls from the Berkeley and Stanford chapters will lead the singing of fraternity songs. There will be a reception committee of which Ethel Rose Taylor is chairman. Mesdames Chandler, Hart, Robinson, Williams, Wilson and Ganyard will serve on this committee.

Reservations may be made with Mrs. George Bate, 2919 Pacific avenue, Telephone Fithmore 4519. Many "Thetas" from this side of the bay will attend the luncheon.

Mrs. Fletcher Ames is entertaining as her house guest in Claremont Mrs. Robert W. Campbell and her young son. Mrs. Campbell now makes her home in Pasadena.

Miss Gertrude Emmons, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Wellington Emmons of Alameda, will assist her sister, Miss Gladys Emmons, at the Oriental evening to be given February 28 at the Little Theater in the Emmons home for the benefit of the American Women's Overseas League.

OLD AGE PENSION SYSTEM WILL BE FOUGHT BY A. F. L.

Opposition Based on Contention "Doles Would Rob Workers of Initiative."

By JAMES T. KOLBERT, United Press Staff Correspondent. WASHINGTON, Feb. 15.—The American Federation of Labor is quietly organizing opposition to old age pension legislation proposed in Illinois, Wisconsin, Texas, Colorado, Wisconsin and other states.

Opposition is based on the contention that "such doles would rob the workers of initiative," and the will to make their old age secure from poverty.

Pensions under the proposed measures would range from $25 monthly to citizens over 60 in Texas to $1 per day to citizens over 70 years of age in Pennsylvania.

To qualify for a pension an applicant must show ten years or more of useful service to the state in which he applies for such aid and prove poverty.

While the Federation of Labor is opposed to the principle of the proposals, it nevertheless realizes the strong appeal it has to many workers and therefore is prepared to compromise by making such aid of national character. If pensions are offered by only a few states, the flow of workers will be to those states, depriving others of their needed labor requirements, leaders of the federation hold.

Opponents to the proposed legislation cite Denmark, Great Britain and France to support their claims. In Denmark the increase in pensions between 1910 and 1920 was 2 per cent, compared with a population increase of only 1 1/2 per cent. Britain and France have had similar experiences, they hold.

The very foundation of unionism is threatened by state or governmental pensions, one leader declared. The union principle, he said, is for the worker to earn wages sufficient to enable him to save enough for the support of his family when old age forces retirement.

Many Poultry Raisers have found the way to make more money

Much depends upon the first few weeks of a chicken's life, more, in fact, than many Poultry Raisers realize. Of what use is it to hatch good chicks unless they are given a start that will make them profitable producers. The days of feeding only Chick Feed (scratch) to Baby Chicks are gone forever among wide-awake Poultry Raisers. For the reason that the

that is, the two things that make more money for Poultry Raisers follow the use of Globe "A1" Baby Chick Mash.

First—a decreased death rate of Baby Chicks because of increased vitality.

Second—greater egg production.

The reasons are clearly set forth in "How to Raise Baby Chicks." This book is free. Send for it today. In California alone, last year it was the guide for raising more than Two Million Baby Chicks which were fed Globe "A1" Baby Chick Mash. Address: Globe Mills, Poultry Department, San Francisco.

Auto Parking Law Is to Be Enforced

SAN LEANDRO, Feb. 15.—With the arrival of more than a dozen signs calling attention to the new 15-minute parking ordinance in the business section here, rigid enforcement of the edict will begin the first of the week, according to J. F. Perella, superintendent of streets. The ordinance, although already in effect, awaited the arrival of the designating signs.

Forty-minute parking for automobiles and a period only so long as it takes to load or unload for trucks will apply to both sides of East Fourteenth street, from Chumalia street to Juana avenue, and on Washington avenue, from Davis to Hepburn streets. Parking will be parallel only, with a space of three feet between automobiles.

Chamber Boost Reorganization Plans

SAN LEANDRO, Feb. 15.—Members of the San Leandro Chamber of Commerce met at a "get-together" luncheon at the Escondido house yesterday to instill enthusiasm in the reorganization under way. The year of activity has resulted in a steady increase in population and building and commercial advancement. Farley B. Granger, secretary, and W. J. Gannon, president, presided over the chamber luncheon.

An extension of one week in the collection campaign under way has been decided on. Results will be compiled next week.

Funeral Awaiting Word From Sister

SAN LEANDRO, Feb. 15.—Funeral services for Captain F. D. Swain, who died at his home, 404 Joaquin avenue, Tuesday afternoon, will be held late this week. Arrangements are being held up until word is heard from the deceased's sister, Mrs. Emma Teaham of Schenectady, N. Y. He has no relatives here. Services will be conducted under the auspices of the Alameda Elks.

The deceased was 63 years of age and had resided in San Leandro for the past three years. He was formerly employed by the firm of Struthers & Dixon of San Francisco, in charge of steamers plying between this coast and Australia, China, New Zealand and other points. Illness forced him to retire three years ago.

Requiem Mass Is Said For Woman

SAN LEANDRO, Feb. 15.—Requiem high mass was said yesterday at St. Leander's Catholic church for Mrs. Barbara Perrella, who died at her home, 1027 Danner street, this city Monday. Interment was at Mt. Calvary cemetery. She is survived by a husband, Joseph Perrella, and nine children, the youngest being one week old and the oldest 13 years. She was a native of Portugal and resided here with her husband three years ago.

Home Specialties

Right here in Oakland, Berkeley and Alameda there are Thousands of

RUUD

AUTOMATIC GAS WATER HEATERS

THESE thousands of homes are being served every day of the year with perfect hot water service—and every year that list grows larger and larger due to one thing only—superior construction.

Comfort of Hot Water

Ruud Hot Water means many years of comfort and relief from all worries of an inefficient service that can hardly be called Hot Water Service.

Imagine the comfort of being able to go to your Bathroom, Kitchen or Laundry, and without waiting for a boiler to heat, turn a faucet and have Steaming Hot Water Instantly from your heater.

This water is Hot enough for many needs of the sick room—the laundry, the bath or for any other household use you may need. And remember this—you are not heating a drop more water than you are actually going to use—and you burn the gas only as long as you are drawing the water. The turning on or off of the hot water faucet regulates the flow of gas automatically.

Twenty-Five Years Service

For the past Quarter of a Century Ruud has been the standard for all Hot Water Heaters. During this time they have installed Hundreds of Thousands of Heaters the world over. Never before has Ruud offered such service or as much comfort as they are offering today.

This is primarily due to the extra care in the construction of these heaters. When you consider the length of time a Ruud gives service you can readily see the economy in buying nothing but the Genuine Ruud. Ask to see the Ruud and have these four essential features explained to you—

INTERNAL THERMOSTAT DOUBLE CAST IRON SHELLS
DOUBLE FUEL CONTROLS
CONDENSATION SHEDS and COLLECTORS

These features are as essential to the efficiency of your heater as the brake is to your automobile. They not only add many years' service, but also add many times the efficiency of the heater.

DRAGGING FAIL TO REVEAL BODY

Search Continues at Straits for Benicia Carpenter Who Fell Off Pier.

PORT COSTA, Feb. 15.—Search is being made today in the vicinity of the Benicia wharf of the Southern Pacific company for the body of C. P. Aptaway, 40 years old, a carpenter for the railroad, who slipped from the pier while at work Tuesday and drowned before aid could reach him. The straits in the vicinity of the pier were dragged today, and when that failed to locate Aptaway's body dynamite was used, but it proved unavailing. It is believed the heavy current running at the time carried the body a considerable distance away. Aptaway has been making his home here with his wife for some time. There are no children. Aptaway, with other carpenters, was engaged in repairing the Benicia ship. Workmen saw him toppling from the wharf and ran to the pier's edge. Aptaway's body came to the surface but on leading to the belief that he struck the wharf in his fall.

Dixon Community Council Holds Annual Dinner and Witnesses Novel Entertainment

HIGH SCHOOL BUILDING at Dixon, Solano county. It was in the auditorium of this building that the Dixon Community Council held its banquet and novel entertainment last Saturday night.

Program Closed With Skit On Troubles of Town and How to Put Crusher On Them

DIXON, Feb. 15.—Two hundred and fifty people sat down to the first annual banquet of the Dixon Community Council in the auditorium of the Dixon High School Saturday night. It surpassed any previous gathering, not only in the number of guests, but in the number of guests, who were from points all the way from New York to Fresno. The united effort of the community to make the affair one to be remembered was shown perhaps greatest in the skit that closed the evening's entertainment. This was the trouble of Mrs. "Daisy Dixon" impersonated by Charles Kirby, local dramatist. Miss Daisy caused considerable anxiety to her "uncle" (R. E. L. Stevens, real estate operator) who saw that her condition was not the best and called in various doctors and physicians to see what could be done for her. The doctors called were first Dr. Paving (H. C. Grove, town constable), who presented his bills to the patient and nearly caused a relapse; Dr. Certified Milk (P. M. Doyle), suggested a milk diet; Dr. P. G. and E. (Charles Sedgewick), gave the patient an overdose of "juice"; Dr. Highway (Carl Schmeiser, county supervisor), gave the patient some hope; Dr. Coue (E. C. Winters, express agent), got no results; Dr. Irrigation (Dr. L. P. Hall), greatly aided the patient; Dr. Publicity (F. G. Dunnehill, editor), gave the patient a dose of "inkering"; that helped, and finally Dr. Construction (W. J. Weyand, mill owner), brought the water that the patient, Miss Daisy Dixon, had long been crying for. And in and behold, Miss Daisy, skinny and thin, changed in an instant to a new Daisy Dixon, fat and sleek, weighing 250 pounds, in the person of Wilbur Elba, local grain farmer, dressed as a Kewpie. Secretary Stanley of the Community Council stated that 150 local people were on committees aiding in getting up the program. The banquet lasted five hours, during which time talks were made by Charles Keeler, secretary of the Berkeley Chamber of Commerce; by A. S. Dudley, secretary of the Sacramento Chamber of Commerce; by E. W. Kirk, secretary of the Oakland Chamber of Commerce; A. C. Wright, secretary of the Vacaville Boosters Club; Miss Dill, county librarian; Miss Kyles, county music teacher, and Mrs. Emma Jane Timm, retiring director of the Community Council. Miss Alta Edwards gave a Spanish dance and H. C. Caldwell of Winters, who was introduced as a Scotchman, gave a soliloquy in English "Dutchaknow."

Fails to Corroborate Divorce Suit Charges

Failure to corroborate her charges against her husband, Wilbur S. Easty, that he beat her and blacked her eyes more than seven times, proved a bar to a divorce decree being issued today to Mrs. Marion E. Easty, 1119 Regent street, Alameda. Dr. Alice Fay, of Alameda, appeared as witness in support of Mrs. Easty's sister. She testified that while the Eastys were residing in New Jersey she went to visit them and was present during one family quarrel. She stated that she heard Easty, whom she described as a salesman, swear at his wife on that occasion. Mrs. Easty testified that if she failed to step aside at any time and get out of the way of her husband, it was his habit to strike her. The couple were married in Buffalo, N. Y., August 10, 1917, and separated September 16, 1921. Superior Judge Koford continued the case pending further evidence as to the alleged cruelty.

Reward Offered for Two Highway Bandits

JACKSON, Feb. 15.—Sheriff George Lucot offers a reward of $200 for the arrest of the two bandits who recently held up Dan Donovan, Plymouth auto stage driver, and stole his car after beating and robbing him. Lucot states one of the men is Arthur Anderson, 26, five feet eight, weighing 170 pounds, and last employed at the Westwood logging camp. His companion is said to be about 22 and also a former Westwood logger. The men held Donovan to drive them to Jackson in the night. They beat him with a tin of kerosene and held him to a tree in the bitter cold and drove away in his car, which was later found near Sacramento. Donovan managed to work one hand loose, reach his pocketknife and cut his thighs.

Castor Again Hazy At Wilkens Trial

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 15.—Arthur Castor was again on cross examination today in the trial of Henry Wilkens, charged with the murder of his wife, Anna. Yesterday Castor said he had waited at Palo Alto and trailed the Wilkens machine to the point where the killing was staged and Mrs. Wilkens slain. Today he was inclined to believe that it was Mountain View where he and his brother had waited but he would not be positive.

Dry Law Violators Fined $50 Each

Three bootlegger suspects were fined today for violation of the Wright act. Edward Straub and George Strong, who were arrested in a soft drink parlor at 1000 Telegraph avenue, were assessed $100 each by Police Judge Edward J. Tyrrell. The officer found two bottles of brandy. Pete Sovara, owner of a soft drink parlor, was fined $50 by Police Judge Jacob Hartzler Jr. They found a small bottle of brandy in the place.

Filipinos Told Own

MANILA, Feb. 15.—(By the Associated Press.)—That the realization of the national aspirations of the Filipino rests primarily on the investment of outside capital in the island's resources and that capital follows the road of progress marked by "good order, good courts and good laws" were two points emphasized by Governor General Leonard Wood in an address here today before the Chamber of Commerce of the Philippines, an organization composed almost entirely of Filipinos.

News Notes of Vallejo And U. S. Navy Yard

VALLEJO, Feb. 15.—Captain M. Cox, public work officer of Mare Island, was one of the speakers at the luncheon in honor of Dr. Burr at the Y. W. C. A. yesterday afternoon. Captain Cox then spoke of the remarkable growth of auto travel that is bound to follow the completion of the bridge and estimated that close to $1,000,000 cars would cross the span each year, not counting trucks. He spoke of the advantages to the navy and army by completion of such a span, as the bridge would give a better and a quicker service in the transportation of men and stores. In concluding, Captain Cox said: "The company has the best possible engineers in charge. Professor Derelth is eminent in his line as consulting engineer in large projects and the fact that he is employed by the Roden-Vallejo company guarantees success. I have known Dr. Burr, the eastern engineer, for 30 years. He is the dean of his profession. Dr. Burr, representing the company, guarantees the War Department that the Roden-Vallejo company means business. For the way, this bridge is the fourth that I have seen been personally interested in." It was asserted at the gathering that the bridge will be finished in side of three years.

The nomination petitions of City Commissioner G. A. Borgwall and Alex Russell for the office of city commissioner of Vallejo have been filed at the City Hall. A. A. Chaudhary, secretary of the Vallejo Chamber of Commerce, has another class of graduates in the near future and a committee consisting of Miss Margaret Hunt as chairman and Dr. J. W. Green, H. L. Taylor and J. C. Storey will arrange for the gathering which will be held the night of February 27.

April 7 is the date set aside for the big dance to be held at K. K. Hall by the Vallejo Y. M. I. and Y. L. I. members. The Vallejo brick plant is turning out an order for 1,000,000 brick for a firm at Alviso. The shipment will be made this month, according to the brick plant directors.

The directors of the Hotel Admiral project are to meet this month, and it is said that steps will be taken to raise the necessary money to complete the proposed hotel at Marin and Virginia.

The Vallejo Riots are to enjoy a clamorous feed Monday night at the headquarters in Sutter street. The feed will be prepared by Chief Charles Colvin.

Man Injured by Assault Improves

MARTINEZ, Feb. 15.—The condition of Manuel Maciel, brutally beaten at Roden-Vallejo bridge, was reported to sheriff's officers from the Merritt hospital, Oakland, today as somewhat improved. Maciel's condition, however, is said to be still critical and the outcome of his injuries cannot be determined. No time has been set for the hearing of Joseph Gomez, arrested on Maciel's complaint and charged with assault with a deadly weapon with intent to commit murder. Gomez is at liberty on bail.

EXORCISE TRIAL OPENS

MADERA, Feb. 15.—The second trial of George A. Harlow, 31, for the murder of his wife, Clara Harlow, 17, near Northfork, Cal., October 22, has opened here. Harlow, who is charged with clubbing Mrs. Harlow to death with a shotgun after finding her in the company of Edward Blanchard, 31, gained a temporary victory two months ago when a jury discredited

MAKE PLANS FOR BOY SCOUT UNIT

Committees Appointed During Meeting to Begin Drive Among Citizens.

LIVERMORE, Feb. 15.—Plans for the formation of a Boy Scout troop in Livermore were started Monday night at a meeting of local people in the First National bank building. The meeting was called by Thomas W. Norris, who was recently made a member of the Boy Scout county committee. There was a large number of people present and all seemed to be in favor of organizing a Boy Scout unit. Homer J. Bonas, scoutmaster of Oakland, addressed the meeting, explaining how a troop was organized. His talk met with much favor and as all the business men and the American Legion are behind the move, it is believed that the troop will be organized and working within a short time. P. W. Norris has been active in stirring up enthusiasm over the troop and the success of the first meeting held to talk over the Boy Scout movement is taken as a tribute to his work for the youths of the town. It is necessary for the men behind the organization to raise $500 to bring a scoutmaster here and to provide a fund for him to work with. It is understood that the Coast Manufacturing and Supply company, of this place, which has always had an interest in the welfare of the people of Livermore, will meet half of the fund. The other $250 must be raised from the people of Livermore. The finance committee which was appointed Monday night, expects no difficulty in doing this. The following committee in general was selected to oversee all affairs connected with the organization of the Scout troop: Thomas W. Norris, Grant H. Tod, J. J. Callaghan, H. C. Callaghan, J. O. McKown, R. R. Kinsler, Rev. N. S. Ficus, T. E. Brady, M. J. Clark, M. R. Henry, J. R. Abbott, Herbert Lee, Dr. V. H. Podasta, Dr. Mack and E. J. Lawless. The finance committee consists of G. H. Tod, chairman; J. O. McKown, T. F. Brady, E. J. Lawless and Joseph Callaghan.

CONCERN FORMED TO BRIDGE RIVER AT SHERMAN ISLE

MARTINEZ, Feb. 15.—Organized for the ostensible purpose of making application to the board of supervisors for a franchise to build a bridge across the river at Sherman Island, near Antioch, the Delta Bridge Corporation, composed chiefly of San Franciscans, today filed articles of incorporation with county clerk H. H. White. The concern is capitalized at $1,000,000 and under its articles of incorporation specifies the purpose of its formation as construction, operation and maintenance of a toll bridge near Antioch and construction and maintenance of warehouses at its terminals for a general transportation and shipping business. Although attorneys for the company would not disclose plans of the concern, it was indicated it would shortly apply to the supervisors, as is required by law, for a franchise to bridge the river. Whether a bill introduced in the state senate by Senators J. M. Inman and Will R. Sharkey, in an appropriation of $600,000 is asked for a San Joaquin river bridge, will affect the Delta Bridge Corporation's project is problematical. The directors of the corporation are listed as John T. Whitmore, B. M. Boccio, C. M. Greene and E. W. Wedge of San Francisco, and J. J. Brown of Sausalito. The articles state that but $500 of the corporation's stock has been subscribed.

BACHELOR TAX URGED AS OLD MAIDS' PENSION

RALEIGH, N. C., Feb. 15.—The house of representatives of the North Carolina legislature enjoyed hearty laughter today over the introduction of a bill by Representative Hauser, of Stokes county, to provide a pension of single men over the age of forty years in an amount not to exceed $100 per month. The money would be used to support maiden ladies over thirty years of age.

Stanford Alumni To Hold Dinner

Considerable interest is being shown in the downtown Stanford dinner to be held Friday night at the Vaudean Cafe, 614 Sixteenth street, according to Harold J. Weber, president of the Oakland Eastbay Stanford club. The record of the Stanford basketball team this season, and the near approach of track and baseball seasons, has stimulated new interest in Stanford affairs among the local alumni, he says. The dinner Friday night will be featured by the discussion of matters of athletic and academic interest, and the election of officers for the local club. Weber states that a few late reservations can be accommodated if he is given prompt notice at Lakeside 2530. His requests that any Stanford man intending to attend the dinner, who has not yet made reservations, do so in order that accommodations can be provided.

Wife's Story of Income Refuted

MODESTO, Feb. 15.—William Young, well known rancher here, denied before a jury the allegation of Mrs. Young in her complaint for divorce that his cream check from his dairy ranch amounted to $23,000 in three years' time. He said he had not received half that amount. Mrs. Young estimates Young's wealth at $100,000 and asks half divorce trial in the local courts.

WATER BONDS TO BE ADVERTISED

$30,000 for Improvement in Filtration System Will Be Raised.

ANTIOCH, Feb. 15.—Antioch trustees recently decided to advertise for sale $30,000 worth of bonds. The bonds are to be sold for water improvement purposes, the trustees say. The sum will be used to reimburse the general fund, which has been used to defray the expense of engineering and preliminary work just completed, in connection with the installation of two settling tanks of 250,000 gallons each. With the sale of these bonds the tanks will be purchased and installed at the pumping plant. C. P. Smith, of San Francisco, has been engaged to provide specifications for this work, and is to supervise the construction of the tanks. The settling tanks are to be of concrete and the new pumping equipment will be of sufficient size to fill one of these tanks in an hour. With the installation of the new apparatus water filtering expense will be reduced to a minimum, it is said.

YOUNG WIFE AND MOTHER OF TRIO SEEKS DIVORCE

WOODLAND, Feb. 15.—Mrs. Archibald Foreman of this city, though only 20 years of age, has had all the experiences of a woman twice her age. She is the mother of three children, has had her mother arrested for abandonment and desertion, and is about to enter the divorce courts for relief. The husband of the girl mother was arrested in Stockton yesterday and returned to Woodland last night to answer to a charge of failure to provide lodged against him by his young wife, through District Attorney George T. Kera. Foreman is a mere youth himself.

Water in Gas Tank Forces Plane Down

MODESTO, Feb. 15.—Water in the gasoline tank of an airplane piloted by J. L. Rutledge, of San Francisco, accompanied by Vance Bress, of San Francisco, which crashed down resulted in a search by Modesto police officers, lasted for more than an hour and a number of telephone calls concerning a supposed crash in Modesto last night. On leaving San Francisco at 5 o'clock, the men narrowly escaped a collision with the tower when the engine of the plane started missing. Obtaining control, Rutledge reported, he managed to fly to Altamont Pass without mishap and he and his companion narrowly escaped death when the plane started to plunge into the bay. On nearing Modesto the engine again started missing and a forced landing in the dark was made on a plowed field about two miles west of the city. The men were brought to town by a passing motorist.

Visitors Inspect Bidwell Mansion

CHICO, Feb. 15.—Over 750 Chico residents took advantage of the "open house" held at Bidwell hall Tuesday afternoon and evening, to inspect the famous mansion, now being used as a dormitory by the girl students at the Chico State college. From 10 o'clock in the morning the doors were open at 1 o'clock in the afternoon until 9 o'clock in the evening. Visitors swarmed through the halls and rooms of the building, and were greatly pleased with the reception accorded them by the girls.

Ex-Farm Laborer Dies and Leaves Half a Million

MARTINEZ, Feb. 15.—I. Akabe, twenty years ago a laborer on an Alhambra valley ranch, died in Stockton several days ago leaving an estate said to exceed half a million dollars in value. Akabe worked as a farm hand on the Chur ranch in Alhambra valley from 1903 to 1910. E. Colton was superintendent. He removed to Stockton and rapidly acquired money in farm ventures that multiplied rapidly through loans made to other Japanese to secure farming property.

FAIRVIEW SETS DATE FOR FETE

OROVILLE, Feb. 15.—The date for the blossom festival to be held by the Fairview Farm Center has been set for March 19. A careful survey of the field by the committee has revealed that the orchards are rapidly budding and ought to be in full blossom by the second week in March. The place for the festival has not been selected, but it is planned to have the road in the neighborhood festooned with blossoms. A queen will be elected to reign over the carnival.

BACHELORS ALL RUSH TO AID OF MODESTO WIDOW

SAN JOSE, Feb. 15.—"Day by day, in every mail, they're getting thicker and thicker," quoth County Clerk Henry A. Pfister yesterday as he viewed a huge pile of letters stacked high on his desk. The reason for the flood of letters is that there is a little widow in Modesto who is seeking a second husband incidentally a stepfather for her four-year-old daughter and that there are in San Jose a number of bachelors who have suddenly had a change of heart and are anxious to venture forth upon the sea of marriage. Pfister is taking them all seriously and says that he will find a suitable stepdaddy for the widow's little girl if it is in his last mortal act.

DAVIS PREPARES WEEK'S EVENTS FOR STOCKMEN

Specialists From All Parts of County Will Take Part in Program.

By PAU E. COSTA. UNIVERSITY FARM, DAVIS, Feb. 15.—Preparations for the stockmen's week, to be held February 19-23, are now in full swing at the University Farm. This is one of the greatest events of the college year at the farm, and to livestock breeders of California this is perhaps their most important meeting of the year. The program has been made and the coming of many distinguished men to participate assured. During the past it has also been given much attention by breeders from other states. This year many believe their number will greatly exceed that of any previous year. There will be lectures, sales, meetings, demonstrations and addresses by men who are recognized authorities. A few of the men who will give lectures are Charles Merrill, assistant secretary of agriculture, Washington, D. C.; Mr. Hargenbarm from Montana, a leader of stockmen; W. W. Van Pelt, state secretary of agriculture; J. B. Lillard, director of vocational agricultural education, Sacramento; and Professor John Burdett of Iowa state college of agriculture. Experts will show how to select livestock for markets, and cows for the dairy industry. Experts will demonstrate meat cutting, wool grading, judging sale cattle and judging remount colts. These demonstrations will be an interesting day's program. There will also be five sales of short horns, Herefords, Poland Chinas, Durco Jerseys, and Berk shires.

Angels Camp Soft Drink Parlors Laid

ANGELS CAMP, Feb. 15.—Heraldizing the city trustees announced they would not enforce their recently passed liquor ordinance, giving as their reason that they feared it would prove a losing financial venture, when Sheriff Joe Swinge and a squad of deputies swooped down on the town and laid out the soft drink parlors, four of whom later paid fines of $100 each. Two, William Osborne and Charles Smith, were held to answer to the superior court, with bonds fixed at $500 each. The city board, in deciding to ignore the ordinance, stated that it feared accused bootleggers might accept long jail terms, thus compelling the town to pay their board to the county, and that in this way could force the town into debt.

Disbarred Attorneys Known at Stockton

STOCKTON, Feb. 15.—Henry Brickley and Harold Newman, whom the state supreme court has just disbarred from practicing law in California, are well known former Stockton attorneys. Brickley never attained the prominence of Newman, however. The latter, some years ago, a young attorney of promise, was appointed legal adviser to the county exemption board during the war. A measure of success resulted in extra-legal living and the passing of a number of worthless checks. He was given probation after pleading guilty. Then he disappeared. Brickley also passed bad checks, which led to his downfall. He, too, secured probation.

SENATE PROBES HEAR WITNESSES ON ELECTION COST

Chiropractors Say Students Not Increased by Law
in Their Favor.

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 15.—Linden L. D. McCash of Oxford and Allston way, Berkeley, secretary-treasurer of the northern division of the chiropractic campaign committee, was the principal witness today before the Senate investigation forces at the railroad senate committee room. The committee began its inquiry this morning into the campaign expenditures of the osteopath and chiropractors, which resulted in the passing of two measures at the last election, creating separate examining boards for those two schools. The new statute separated them from the control of the State Medical Board.

McCash detailed the operations of the campaign organization in this part of California. He said his committee had received $18,000, chiefly contributed from chiropractors and their friends. The principal expenditure, he explained, covered the printing and distribution of 500,000 pieces of literature. He argued that the passage of the new law had not tended to increase the number of chiropractic students, pointing out that there had been ten schools in Los Angeles for chiropractic studies and that this number had not increased since the law became operative.

Circulars urging depositors to vote against the Water and Power Act were sent out by the Wells-Fargo Nevada National Bank, the Bank of California and the Crocker National Bank. It was testified yesterday by representatives of these institutions before the committee.

It was also recorded that circulars were distributed in opposition to the act by various leading bond houses. Mayor Louis Bartlett of Berkeley, William J. Locke and H. A. Mason, representing the California League of Municipalities, also appeared before the Senate committee to tell of the activity of the league in defeating propositions 10, 11 and 20 relating to taxation of municipal owned public utilities. They declared that less than $150 had been spent in all by the league.

The Senate committee also heard witnesses in regard to the housing or "shingle" bill, and is continuing its sessions today.

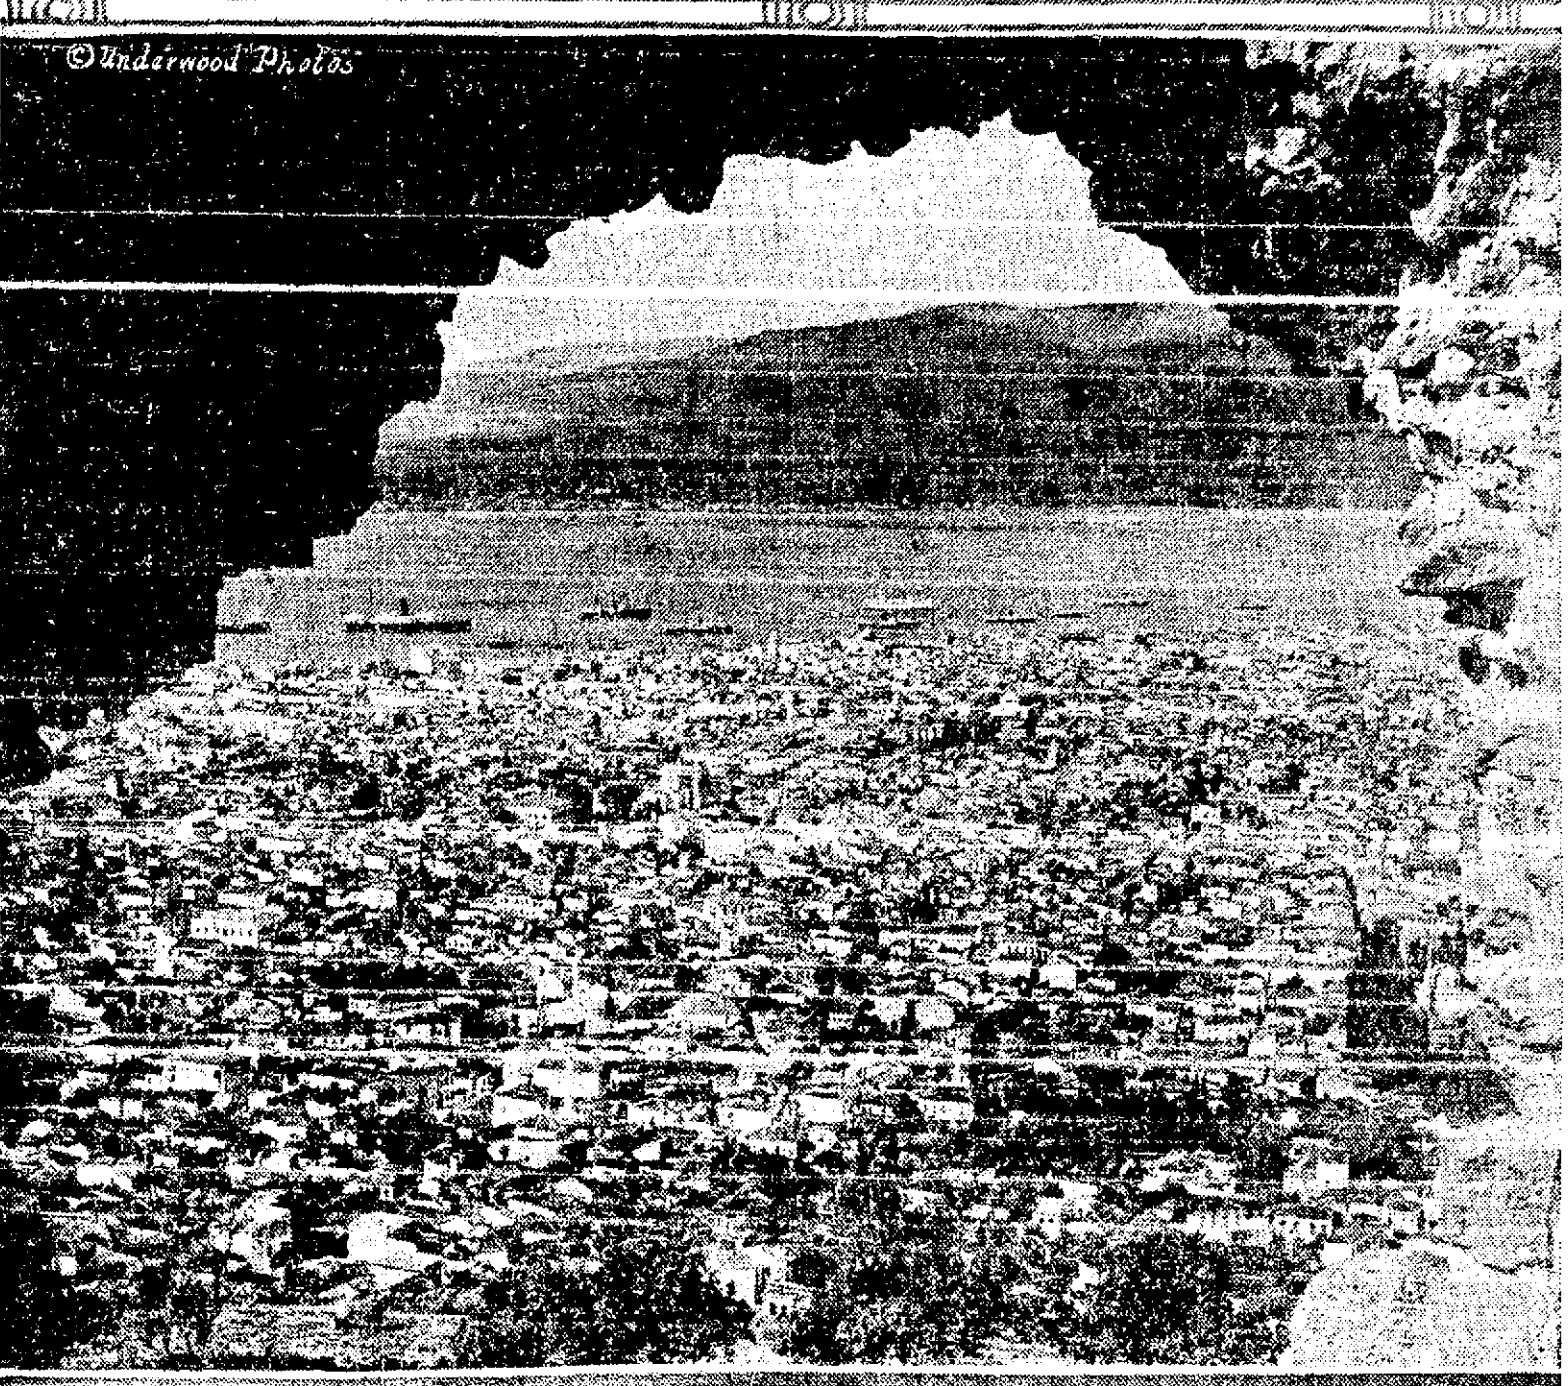

The defeat of the Sample bill to regulate the practice of law, because of the alleged activity of the banks against the measure, was also looked into by the committee. The bill would have enjoined banks from giving legal advice.

The result of the present investigation is seen by some in yesterday's announcement of the State Railroad Commission that, in future, public utilities in California will be required to file salary data, and an accounting of donations and contributions.

SCHAEER REFUTES CHARGE OF TIPS TO BOOTLEGGERS

Dye House Head Says Criticized Sign Was Placed to Show Liquor Opposition.

Characterizing as "absolutely ridiculous" charges that through his activity he had "tipped off" bootleggers in the vicinity of his dyeing and cleaning establishment in Twenty-second street, Fred P. Schaeer said today that he had, on the contrary, done everything in his power to stamp out bootlegging in his vicinity.

Schaeer came into prominence recently through the following sign put up by him in his place of business:

"We will soon move to our new location, corner Twenty-sixth and St. Pablo, and account rent being raised from $50 to $200 because we are not bootleggers."

At that time Schaeer, who is a member of the First Baptist Church, said that he was opposed to bootlegging, but that he had not taken any action until revelers in the vicinity of his establishment disturbed him. He then went to Dr. John Shape, pastor of the First Baptist church, and Shape took him to Commissioner Frank Colburn.

Schaeer later reported that bootlegging was going on in a place near his store. He reported the matter and a raid was made, but no liquor was found. This gave rise, according to Schaeer, to a rumor that his activity had tipped off bootleggers.

Schaeer also declared that he had been told by an agent for the owners of the property where he has his place of business, that if he did not quit giving information to the police about alleged bootleggers, he would have to move. Schaeer then posted the anti-bootlegging sign which still remains in the window of his establishment.

CALLS CAMPAIGN SUCCESS.
In this campaign against bootleggers," said Schaeer today, "the success of our efforts has been extraordinary. Success is no name for it. Bootlegging—a whole lot of it, at least—has stopped in my neighborhood. They are waiting for me to move. I never will change my mind on the issue of bootlegging. I will give my time and energy always to carrying on this campaign against bootleggers, no matter what threats are made against me."

"I have been working on this thing for the past five months. It would have come to a head sooner but my youngest daughter, Lilly, aged eight years, was taken ill about four months ago and died."

It was Lilly Schaeer who was saved from drowning in Lake Merritt about six months ago by Schaeer's other daughter, Gladys Schaeer, aged 11 years.

MARTINEZ, Feb. 15.—Hjalmar Anderson of Bay Point, killed in an automobile accident near Walnut Creek in November, left an estate consisting of property in Richmond valued at $600, according to C. E. Daley, public administrator, who today petitioned for letters of administration. Daley says relatives of Anderson are unknown.

John Florin, driver of the automobile in which Anderson met death, is now serving a sentence of eighteen months in the county jail for driving while intoxicated.

U. S. Air Service Saves Sick Babe On Lonely Ranch

RENO, Nev., Feb. 15.—A sick baby, snowbound on a lonely ranch, 15 miles from Reno, received needed medicines yesterday when Uncle Sam, with his air service went to the rescue. The father of the child, Samuel Barnes, battled the snow eleven hours Tuesday before he reached Reno to procure the medicines and, after three unsuccessful attempts to return today, he appealed to Major A. O. Tomlinson, in charge of the Reno air mail field, for aid. Major Tomlinson immediately dispatched Pilot J. L. Eaton and a plane to the ranch and the medicine was dropped into the waiting arms of the mother mother standing at the door of the home.

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 15.—Harry Broiakski, once termed millionaire monarch of the bootleggers, paroled from McNeil island where he served as a convict for conviction of violating prohibition laws, is on his way to San Francisco and is expected to arrive here tomorrow. The gray-haired, gray-eyed former political boss of California, hobbling on a cane, for he has just been discharged from Tacoma hospital where he underwent treatment for cancer, and accompanied by his mother, left Seattle yesterday at 4:55 p. m. On leaving, he said: "I'm supposed by many people to have a lot of bootleg money and a lot of bootleg booze planted away somewhere to go back to, now I'm free. But I haven't. I'm leaving prison on parole, practically penniless. I'm going somewhere near Los Angeles for a rest. Then I'm going to San Francisco."

GREAT INCREASE IN BIBLE READING

NEW YORK, Feb. 10.—(United Press).—Frank Hunt Mann, secretary of the American Bible Society, declared today that his organization alone distributed 6,000,000 Bibles during 1922. About 30,000,000 were distributed in all. Hundreds of thousands, according to Mann, went to the Far East. He thinks that one reason for the great increase in sales is the fact that the exponents of eastern civilization wish to see and study the book upon which they believe west-

The Bible can be read in nearly 300 different languages and dialects over 100 are used in America; many of them printed in double columns, one English, the other the native language of foreign born residents. The demand is far greater than the supply, Mann said, and distribution is limited only by the funds of the organization, which spent over a million dollars last year. One order has just been placed for 3,000,000 separate books of the Bible which will be sold for a cent apiece. They are pouring in at the rate of 30,000 a day, and pouring right out again. The popularity of the Bible is greater than ever before.

Noted Family of Pianist Revealed

The fact that Don Alfonso de Zelaya of this week's bill at the Orpheum is related to ruling families in Central America was revealed today when he appeared before the Mutual Business club for an entertainment and talk. It became known that he is a first cousin of Julio Enrique Zelaya, provisional president of Guatemala, and is the son of Jose Santos de Zelaya, former president of Nicaragua. "My cousin Julio was one of the leaders in the faction that resented a rule by the financiers of the country and that led to the revolution, following which he was named provisional president," said Zelaya. "He did so with no thought of personal gain. He is a patriot and has the interests of his country at heart."

Zelaya gave some piano selections similar to those given by him on the Orpheum and made a short talk in which he covered politics, love and spiritualism. Regarding the latter, Zelaya declared himself to be a psychic and said he has more than once held conversations with departed friends.

Physicians Charge Fraud in Estate

Mrs. Adelaide Powers Ransom is charged with failing to report to the probate court the estate of her father, W. H. Powers with the purpose of defrauding them, in a suit for $370 instituted by Dr. William H. Strietmann and Dr. H. Gordon McLean. The physicians declare they rendered medical and surgical services to Powers on February 1, 1921. Powers died on May 19, 1921, leaving an estate of $2405, and his daughter obtained letters of administration on August 1, 1921. The plaintiffs declare Mrs. Ransom has neglected and refused to act on their claim, and on December 19, 1921, secured final distribution of the estate, affirming in court that there was no claim against the estate. They ask that the decree of distribution be set aside and the claim paid.

WOMEN WORKERS SCHOOL BOARD DISCUSS BONDS

Committee of Organizations to Function in Proposed Program.

The committee representing various civic, improvement, labor and tax associations met to consider the proposed $9,500,000 school bond issue yesterday afternoon in the city hall with the board of education and organized temporarily to function on the issue with the board.

Mrs. C. E. Wilson, of the Oakland League of Women Voters, was selected temporary chairman and the next meeting was set for Friday, 4 p. m.

Eight of the fourteen central civic organizations were represented and representatives of many subsidiary organizations, the superintendent's force, and the construction department, attended.

President Harry Boyle welcomed the visitors. Vice-president George Hatch described the educational situation in Oakland and observed that "we have to have schools" and that we have to do something toward getting them.

Superintendent of Schools Fred M. Hunter outlined his survey on school needs; Director J. F. Chandler described the $1,500,000 in prospective sites, and Architect C. W. Dickey spoke of school buildings, holding that the suggested bond issue be not reduced.

If the program must be reduced, said Dickey, "it has to be by elimination of schools in certain districts and not by cheaper buildings. The buildings are as economical as possible considering school needs and the full factor of safety."

President Boyle said that the committee must look into the answers to three questions: Shall there be a bond issue? How much? When?

"We hear of talk of other bond issues, for an estuary tube, for the waterfront and for other things. It behooves us to act quickly."

The members present, aside from Mrs. Wilson were: Edgar Muller, Oakland Teachers' association; A. A. Napp, Elmhurst commercial club; W. A. Knowles, Merchants' Exchange; Mrs. F. V. Volmer, Oakland Federation of Parent-Teachers' associations; Mrs. A. B. Glaser, Alameda County President's Council; William A. Spooner, Central Labor Council; H. S. Craig, Public Education Advisory Committee; E. J. Engler, Civic League of Improvement associations; Charles Tevelin, Bay View Improvement club; Joseph Lloyd, Building Trades Council; Leon C. Francis, Glenview Improvement club, and C. H. Fisher, Oakland Chamber of Commerce.

Derailed Car Caused Dawson Disaster

DAWSON, N. M., Feb. 15.—(Derailed) of an outgoing motor "trip" mine car, knocking down lines was attached raising a quantity of dust, which was ignited by an electric arc, caused the disastrous explosion in Mine No. 1 here Thursday last, which cost the lives of 120 men, according to the verdict returned by the coroner's jury here yesterday afternoon.

The arc which set off the coal dust was caused when the feed wire came in contact with one of the iron pit cars, the jury declared.

Three more bodies were recovered from the demolished interior of the mine yesterday, still leaving eleven not yet found amid the debris.

CITY ATTORNEY OPPOSES PLAN TO CUT RAY RATES

Gray Says That Commuters Should Wait Until After the Key Route Reorganization.

City Attorney Leon Gray was the luncheon speaker of the Alameda county commuters at their weekly session yesterday at the Palace hotel. A full attendance of the membership was on hand to listen to the city official who described in detail his reasons for advising the city council not to join with Berkeley and Alameda for a reduction of transit rates on the Key Route system.

Gray explained that he was unable to find justification for the claim that labor and material had decreased in cost approximately 20 per cent since the war wave of high prices. He asserted that an application made by the railroad commission at this time would quickly result in its being sidetracked until such time as there could be a valuation of the property of the there had never been a real valuation made, and that would be the first step, which would require several months in the process, and would need at least $100,000 in the expenses of engineers and accountants.

A certain point made by Gray was that the Key Route plans an early financial reorganization. He said the company contemplated the submission of a new financing plan to the railroad commission in the near future, and that nothing whatever could be done about a lessening of rates until that had been approved in addition to the valuation of the property. He said that undoubtedly the commission would contend that if it reduced rates on the Key Route it would similarly have to make reductions on the Southern Pacific, and indeed that the latter corporation would doubtless petition for a reduction of rates immediately the announcement of a reduction on the Key Route was made.

Autoist Injured As Car Hits Trolley

A "one-man street car" was put out of commission and an automobile was wrecked when Andrew Giamboni, 4423 Fruitvale avenue, ran his machine into the car yesterday afternoon at Fruitvale avenue and Macine street.

The accident was a head-on collision. Giamboni was traveling north on Fruitvale avenue and the street car coming south. Giamboni was taken to the Emergency hospital, where he was treated for cuts, bruises and internal injuries. J. R. McDonald, the motorman in charge of the car, escaped uninjured.

Oh, speaking of John E. Kellard, he is planning to do "Dr. Jekyll and Mr. Hyde" in New York. He played that here, too.

CURTAIN CALLS

OBSERVERS of the trend of things theatrical along the eastern seaboard are inclined to the belief that the Shakespearean run is slowing down to a snail's pace, and before the warm months are fully in evidence the estimable bard of Avon will have retired in favor of the Hopwood brand of farce.

It has all come about through the sudden withdrawal of John Barrymore from the role of "Hamlet" and his consequent departure to France for a holiday with his wife. True, Barrymore broke by one night, the record of 100 continuous performances set by Booth in '65, but his original scheme was to continue for 200 performances.

Then added to this there was the sad fate of Ethel Barrymore, who is now firmly fixed in place on her dramatic escutcheon a blot that will be difficult of removal through her unsuccessful attempt to play Juliet. Of course it can hardly be as bad as all that, but, at all events, Miss Barrymore had to retire from the Shakespearean stage.

TWENTY SEASONS AGO TODAY

Clay M. Greene's romantic drama, "Chipsa," is at the Alcazar.

At the present time there are but two Shakespearean companies going in New York. One is David Warfield as Shylock in "The Merchant of Venice." Warfield is playing to $4 to $5 against the $2 asked by Barrymore, and is doing about $18,000 a week. He continues until March.

The other successful offering is the Juliet of Jane Cowl, which was expected to fall in the face of the Barrymore opposition and which got off to a quiet start, but is now running so strong that Arch Selwyn announced before embarking for Europe that he intended to keep it running until summer.

By the way, John E. Kellard has arrived on Broadway with the announcement that he, as well as Booth, played 100 consecutive Shakespearean performances.

Lea Turns Over a New Leaf

From time immemorial there has been a war between the stage director and the actor, each on his opinion of the other and the air immediately assumes a cerulean blue. In the case of the director, it is the actor, tears will come to his eyes and when he manages to speak profanely will be the order of the day. The actor, in turn, will speak just as freely. He will not mince matters.

Kidney and Bladder Troubles HAVE TO GO

Clogged Up Kidney Deposits Are Dissolved and the Toxins (Poisons) Completely Driven Out—Druggists Told to Guarantee It in Every Instance.

"Your very life," says Dr. Carey, "depends upon the perfect functioning of the kidneys of your body, whatever you do, don't neglect them."

Dr. Carey's famous Prescription No. 17 (known for years as Marshall's) is not recommended for ordinary things, but we cannot too strongly urge its use if you suffer from annoying bladder troubles, frequent passing of water, night and day, with smarting or irritation, brick dust sediment or highly colored urine, blood in the urine, loss of flesh, or any other tendency to Bright's Disease, Diabetes or Gravel, for kidney disease in its worst form may be stealing upon you.

Don't wait until tomorrow to begin the use of this wonderful prescription now obtainable in liquid and tablet form if you have any of the above symptoms. Kidney and bladder troubles don't wear away slowly and steadily, but they slowly and steadily with unfailing certainty. If you even suspect that you are subject to Kidney Disease, don't lose a minute's delay. Owl Drug Co. and every good druggist has been authorized to return the purchase money on the first bottle of Marshall's that gives you no benefit—Advertisement.

CHANCE OF LIFE LOSES TERRORS

For Women who Rely upon Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Greenville, Pa.—"I took your medicine through the Change of Life and it did wonders for me. I was down in bed when I started to take it and weighed 95 pounds. I had hot flashes and was so nervous and weak that everything would get black and I could not see. I would sit and cry and I did not know what I was crying for. Since I have been taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound I feel younger than I did ten years ago, and my friends all tell me I look younger, and I owe it all to the Vegetable Compound. I am now 45 years old."

Many women similar to this have been published, testifying to the benefit of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. Write for a free copy of the book "The Change of Life" to Mrs. J. M. Ryan, 16 Union St., Greenville, Pa.

Newmanites Get Fine For Having Liquor

NEWMAN, Feb. 15.—Joe Cofac, a dairyman living on the edge of town, was yesterday given four months in jail and a $500 fine, imposed by Judge Blackwell, after Newmanites obtained a warrant for charge of illegal possession of wine. He claimed he had only a small quantity for his own use, but complaints were made to the officers that he had been selling it.

Robert Gambetta paid a $200 fine on the same charge. Officers Newmanites and Newmanites raided his place and found 100 gallons of wine and a quantity of Newmanites.

RECORD HOLSTEIN BREED PLAN OF RANCH COMPANY

WOODLAND, Feb. 15.—Frank Morris, head of the Asa W. Morris corporation, owners of Tilly Ranch, Holstein cow that held the world's milk record production for a brief period, announced yesterday that the company planned to sell its lands near here and specialize in raising pure-bred Holsteins in the hope to perpetuate the record of Tilly for years to come.

As a result, within a few days, another large holding in Yolo county will be subdivided and sold in small tracts to homesteaders at most any terms they desire. The Morris company owns several large tracts, which formerly were utilized for pasture lands. One or two of these tracts are to be offered for subdivision, while the Morris devote their entire time to the development of the herd of Holsteins left them by Asa W. Morris, who was killed at Dunsmuir a year ago when his automobile went over a grade.

"We are not selling our lands for profit, but that we may devote our time to raising the greatest herd of Holsteins this country has ever known," said Frank Morris, president of the A. W. Morris company. "We cannot do this and divide our time in farming such a large area. We are carrying on the wish of our father, who planned, had he lived, to specialize in a stock that could not be equaled in the breed. We offer our lands for sale simply to aid in making the stock we have the best in the country."

Radio Society eMay Form at Woodland

WOODLAND, Feb. 15.—Wallace Ruston, Lester Arnold and Lester Clover of Woodland, are planning the details of an entertainment here Saturday evening to entertain fifty-five young men from Stockton, Sacramento, Colusa, Roseville and Fairfield interested in radiography. Gridley Citizens Planning Tribute For Major Lewis GRIDLEY, Feb. 15.—Plans are being perfected here by local citizens for a tribute to Major Winford Lee Lewis and those who served from this community during the World War.

Major Lewis, a native of Gridley, who is at present head of the chemistry department of Northwestern University, achieving distinction during the war as the inventor of "Lewisite" gas which was destined to be the most deadly of gases used during the conflict. It is understood that a small plot of land west of Gridley, which was formerly a portion of the Lewis home property, will be bought by popular subscription.

Upon this plot stands a beautiful oak tree and plans are being made to place a bronze tablet on the oak and to inscribe the plot with a substantial inscription.

Safe Robbed Each Time Owners Change

WOODLAND, Feb. 15.—Each time the Woodland safe company changes hands the safe therein is robbed. For the second time in recent months the safe was opened open Monday night and $500 in cash and checks taken. The burglary recently changed hands. Knudsen and Brown, who were carrying on the concern from Gridley and Fresno, some months ago when Catechew entered the partnership, the safe was blown open and $500 in cash and currency was taken. Sheriff J. W. Monroe found no clues in either burglary.

CALISTOGA FOLK WILL MAKE TOUR THROUGH EUROPE

CALISTOGA, Feb. 15.—Mr. and Mrs. Robert Wallace Gray are preparing for an extended trip to Europe. They expect to leave their country home in Calistoga about May 1 and will be away six months. Gray is a retired engineer, a brother of the late Richard Gray, whose daughter, Miss Isabel Gray of New York City, is soon to marry Professor Charles Ernest Fullew of Columbia University.

Professor Fullew has just come into the title of Seventh Viscount of Exmouth upon the death of his father, recently in Washington. After the wedding they expect to go to England, where Professor Fullew will take his seat in the House of Lords.

Miss Isabel Gray is a graduate of the University of California. She was called "Queen Mab" all through her college at the university. She is an attractive woman and a thoroughly democratic in her views. It is said that she shows no enthusiasm over her "title-to-be" but expects to lead a quiet life in England. She has always been active in musical circles in New York City. Mr. and Mrs. R. W. Gray will probably be in England to welcome the bride and bridegroom upon their arrival together with Mrs. Gray's two sisters who are well-known in England because of their activities in the school for girls in London and one is a physician and surgeon in Nottingham.

NEW TREASURES ARE TAKEN FROM PHARAOH'S TOMB

Excavators Secure Tutankhamen's Gorgeous Couch, 3500 Years Old.

LUXOR, Egypt, Feb. 15.—(United Press).—A lion-headed couch, gorgeously gilded, was brought from the outer tomb of Pharaoh Tutankhamen Wednesday as excavators under Lord Carnarvon's personal direction cleared the last remaining objects preparatory to clearing the wall that guards the inner catacomb.

The couch was shoulder high, having for its support two bizarre, elongated figures of lions with open mouths and long tongues of pinkish jewels. It was in almost perfect condition despite the 3500 years since the Pharaoh reclined upon it in his palace by the Nile. So large was this object that it was dismantled at the little iron barred gateway which protects the excavators from intrusion.

Wreaths of withered flowers and a miscellany of trinkets followed. Then the bed section of the lion couch was brought to light, swathed in cotton bandages which concealed its decorations.

Sentence Halted by New Trial Motion

MARTINEZ, Feb. 15.—Motion for a new trial yesterday afternoon forestalled sentencing of J. P. Lopez of Redco, found guilty by a jury Friday of a charge of driving an automobile while intoxicated. When Lopez appeared in court for sentencing his attorneys made formal motion for a new trial. Arguments on the motion were not completed and were continued until Friday.

Lopez was arrested again yesterday afternoon following his appearance in court. Constable Bloom Rogers, keeping a wary eye for speeders on Smith street, near the municipal market, took Lopez with driving thirty miles an hour. He was released on his own recognizance. He has until Friday to appear before Justice Frank Glass.

Catarrh Of The Stomach Is Dangerous

"Thousands Have It and Don't Know It," Says Physician.

Preventive Medicine for Indigestion—How to Avoid It and Treat.

"Thousands of people suffer more or less constantly from indigestion, coated tongue, bad breath, sour burning stomach, frequent vomiting, rumbling in stomach, bitter eructations, and a general feeling of uneasiness and call it indigestion when in reality their trouble is due to catarrh of the stomach." writes a New York physician.

Catarrh of the stomach is a dangerous disease. The mucous membrane lining of the stomach is thickened and a coating of phlegm covers the surface so that the digestive fluids cannot mix with the food and digest it. This condition soon becomes a deadly disease in the stomach, causing indigestion, loss of appetite, and general weakness. It is the first sign of a serious condition.

In catarrh of the stomach a good and safe treatment is to take before meals a teaspoonful of pure Bileated Magnesia in half a glass of hot water as hot as you can comfortably drink it. The hot water washes the mucus from the stomach walls and draws the blood to the stomach while the bileated magnesia is an excellent solvent for mucus and increases the efficiency of the hot water treatment. Moreover the Bileated Magnesia will serve as a powerful and harmless antacid which will neutralize any excess hydrochloric acid that may be in the stomach.

Contention. Easy, natural digestion without distress of any kind should be the aim. Bileated Magnesia is not a laxative, is harmless, pleasant and easy to take and can be obtained from any local druggist. Don't confuse Bileated Magnesia with other forms of magnesia, which are either cathartic or laxative. Bileated Magnesia is the only form of magnesia that is safe and effective for the purpose.

Stop it—Now!

Get the hard-packed phlegm—and that persistent flow of mucus—soothe that tired, cough-racked chest and throat.

For 50 years this dependable remedy for all the family has been known.

S. F. MILLIONAIRE CLUB IS HAILED BY DRY AGENTS

Liquor Seized in Merchants' Exchange Rooms and Leaders Cited.

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 15.—The exclusive Merchants' Exchange club, rendezvous of financiers and millionaires, in the basement of the Merchants' Exchange building, 465 California street, was raided yesterday by federal prohibition agents, six bottles of liquor confiscated as evidence and citations obtained requiring several prominent members to explain the presence of alcohol in the club. No arrests were made.

The men for whom the citations were obtained followed:

A. S. Nelson, president of the club, wealthy grain dealer.
E. Clemens Horst, vice-president, hops grower and one of the leaders of the movement against the Wreath amendment.
F. M. Branch, secretary, insurance broker.
B. M. Atkins, treasurer, corporation attorney.

M. H. Harrington, executive secretary, residing in Oakland.
C. A. Brown, steward.
George Mountford, steward.

Officers of the club stated following the raid that the club was not in the business of selling liquor, that it had no liquor of its own, and that any liquor that may have been served in the club was purchased as such. It was explained that the club is an organization composed exclusively of business men, and that so far as the organization was concerned, at no time had it trafficked in any way in intoxicants.

The six bottles of liquor, according to federal prohibition agents, were from grips in the back room of the club.

THE BOARD OF CHARITIES.

Alameda county knows of the work and the value of the State Board of Charities and Corrections. In a way, it is an institution peculiarly of this county for it was organized twenty years ago in the administration of Governor Pardee and its first president was J. K. McLean of Oakland.

This Board has always acted quietly and effectively. It has been a supervisory agency dedicated to helping the individual and the institution which is unfortunate and in need of assistance. The nature of the task has precluded publicity but those who are in public position or at the head of various relief agencies know of the manner with which the State Board has functioned.

An instance close to home is that of the Alameda County Hospital, at one time among the poorest equipped in the country. The problems of the county hospital were brought out first through publicity, then the supervisors took over the work of improvement and, today, the hospital stands as a model. The State Board of Charities asked that its part in the reformation be kept quiet and yet it was this Board which suggested the governing board for the hospital and the administrative changes which so markedly have brought up the standard. Another field of the Board's labors is that of institutions for children. As a result of a policy inaugurated the trend has been changed from the orphanage to the home and thousands of children have been given out for adoption.

There is no provision in the budget of Governor Richardson to continue the State Board of Charities and Corrections. In his message the Governor intimated the functions would be taken over by the Board of Control, a fiscal agency, but as no money is allowed for the work it would seem the plan is to eliminate both Board and functions. The saving in money will be $40,000. It will be difficult to estimate the cost.

There is a chance that, in the weeks remaining before the Legislature convenes again, Governor Richardson will reconsider his decision to do away with the Board. Similarly, he is being asked to recall his plans to do away with the Forestry Board and the Mining Bureau.

Those who know of the work of the State Board of Charities and Corrections are genuinely concerned lest, in the name of economy and for an apparent $40,000, there be removed from California welfare work a board of inestimable value. They recall the pre-election promise of Mr. Richardson that he would de-

THE IMMIGRATION BILL.

The proposed immigration bill of the House Immigration Committee is attracting an international attention because of the translation into law of the "gentlemen's agreement" between this country and Japan, and because of the changes to be effected in numbers of immigrants allowed from various countries.

The paragraph referring to the Japanese is the one which has been widely discussed, and which would forbid entry into this country of aliens not entitled to seek citizenship. So important has this been considered that many of the other provisions of the measure have been overlooked.

The bill stipulates that all immigrants must procure a certificate of entry from American consulates before embarking, and dues steamship companies giving passage to those not so provided. Heretofore hundreds of aliens have crossed the sea, and then have been forced to return. The new plan is designed to inform those who have no chance of entering America of this fact in time to save them expense and inconvenience.

It is noticeable that under the House bill's provisions, Italy's quota will be re-

that of Germany will be increased from 55,000

Belgium and Scandinavia will be increased while those from Poland, Russia, and the Balkan States will be lowered. The act is not to operate against immigration from Canada, New Foundland, Mexico, and South America provided immigrants had been residents in those countries for a period of five years.

This is the frame of the bill which is to be reported at once to the House and will appear as important business within a short time. In general, it preserves the restrictions which have obtained and defies the efforts of a considerable group which has been urging the removal of all bars and the free entry into America of foreign labor.

A FUTILE SYSTEM.

One of the causes of crime waves, and a subject for a sermon which might be called "Futility," is to be found in three news stories in one day's paper.

The first is the story of forty men rounded up in the freight yards of a valley city to be brought before the court and sentenced to "leave town at once." They came to Oakland.

Another story is that of the arrest in San Francisco of a man who was said to have conducted a sort of class in which narcotics were distributed. A national campaign against narcotics is on and this man, according to the police, was supplying victims with the stuff they craved. He faced the judge and was told to "leave the city."

A man in Oakland was arrested for a petty crime and sentenced. On his agreement to "leave the city" the sentence was suspended.

What is gained by shifting the floaters and the suspected from one city to another? Often, before the man or the group who are ordered out of Oakland, for instance, have left the limits the next town is warned and is waiting to receive them. Again comes the order to move on. Is there any satisfaction in passing men on from city to city? The chances are the system makes criminals and is adding continually to the costs of preserving the public peace. All this aside from the wrong it does to men.

If a man has committed a crime serious enough to warrant banishment, it must also warrant a punishment in which the city may have a share of responsibility. When men who are out of work are ordered to move on, the chances of their being permanently out of work are increased. It is time municipalities assumed their own responsibilities and ceased passing their problems from one to the other.

MOUNT LASSEN RECOGNIZED.

Mount Lassen will come into a prominence befitting the only volcano in the United States if the program of expenditures recommended by National Park Service engineers is carried out. It is a program recognizing the California mountain as a scenic and scientific asset and one which would prepare to accommodate the thousands of tourists who will visit its slopes.

An expenditure of $1,304,000, over a four-year period, is the recommendation of George E. Goodwin, Chief Civil Engineer of the Park Service, to Stephen T. Mather, Director. Practically the whole amount would be spent for roads, with a very small amount for horse trails, foot trails, telephone service and small buildings.

It is only in the last year that the West began to realize that Lassen is a wonder-mountain. The Lassen Volcanic National Park Association of California has made it a business to inform the nation of the many attractions the peak possesses. Largely due to the initiative of this organization is the recognition which is carried in the engineer's report.

With good roads winding up the sides of Mount Lassen it will stand as an invitation to the tourists of the world.

RELIGIOUS EDUCATION.

That there are vast fields for the church to enter with its program of religious education is indicated by a report made in Chicago this week that 27,000,000 American boys and girls are growing up without any sort of spiritual instruction. In fact, the number of religiously neglected youth is as great as the number that is being instructed in matters of religion, whether in Sunday schools or parochial or denominational schools.

The importance of educating the youth of the land in at least the fundamentals of accepted religions of this country, with their emphasis on personal and social righteousness, sound moral principles, civic obligations and standards of honor is emphasized in all quarters. Men high in business and men in public office, as well as leaders in education or in church activities, point out that disaster threatens unless the boys and girls—the men and women of tomorrow—are instructed in those basic rules of conduct on which rests civilization itself.

The condition, however, is more chronic than acute. It is not due to a sudden crisis, but is the result of a situation that has long existed, and the gravity of which has only recently been realized. The rate of increase of enrollment in Sunday schools and other institutions of religious education is now greater than the general increase in population, and more nearly adequate provision for meeting the needs in this field is producing a specially effective type of religious instruction that is proving attractive to unchurched youth.

Training for religious leadership is being emphasized. Better teachers are being enrolled. Intelligently arranged courses of study are being introduced, supplementing haphazard lessons. Week-day religious instruction is increasing rapidly and is producing noteworthy results. In short, the situation, bad as it is, shows encouraging improvement.

BREAKFAST.

(Being a play in one act founded upon the following news item: Joseph A. Coons of the Bronx received a registered letter from Budapest while he was at breakfast yesterday morning. Upon opening it he found that he had inherited $2,000,000 from an uncle in Buenos Aires whom he had not seen since 1869.)

As the curtain rises, Rudolph Worthington (which is a much better name for dramatic purposes than Joseph A. Coons) enters the dining room of his apartment, tweeking his cravat into place. Mrs. Worthington is already seated at the table, glancing at the paper. As Rudolph comes in she looks up and places the paper beside his place, opposite her. She smiles at him, a rather sad smile. He walks over, stands behind her and places his hands on her shoulders. On his face there is a look of kindness that seems habitual and one of happiness looks out of place.

Mrs. W.—It's the sixth of the month, Rudy.
 Rudy—Yes, Katherine; the sixth.
 Kath.—And the bills aren't paid, dear. There's Eluecher, and the milk man, and Johnson's, and Meyerberg, and we really ought to pay something on that big bill at Allen & Wakefield's.

Rudy—Yes, dear; I know. (She looks up over her shoulder and meets his eyes, which are bright and cheerful.)

Kath.—Oh, it's all very well for you to be cheerful about it and say "Yes, dear"—but what are we going to do? All these nasty tradespeople are getting more and more snippy to me every day. And I can't do anything for fear they'll have a lawyer after us. . . . Cheerfulness isn't very practical just now.

Rudy (flosing none of his composure)—Oh, I don't know. It always helps to be cheerful.

Kath.—I'm sick of it, I tell you. No wonder you can be cheerful; you don't have to see these people every day like I do. It's easy enough for you to smile. But what are you going to do about it?

Rudy (sticking his hands in his pockets and walking to the window)—I think I'll pay them all and tell them to go to the devil.

Kath (with an exasperated noise)—Pay them? You'll pay them? That's fine! . . . And what will you pay them with? Marks?

Rudy—No, Checks.

Kath.—If you are proposing to give out a lot of bad checks and run away I may as well tell you right now that I won't have anything to do with it! You must be crazy!

Rudy (turning and facing her)—Katherine, I am proposing to give them perfectly good checks with my name on them. Cashable at the People's Trust company at their face value. What do you think of that?

Kath (seeing a strange light in his eyes)—But—but—how—

Rudy—I changed jobs yesterday.
 Kath.—Changed jobs? What do you mean?

Rudy—I left old Jackson flat. Walked in and told him he was an old skunk and that I wouldn't work for him again if I had to starve first.

Kath.—But what are you going to do? Can you find another job? Jackson was a miser and a cheat and a liar, but even his $2500 was something. . . . Oh, dear! You're so hot tempered! . . . Can you get another job?

Rudy (springing his knees jauntily)—I start next Monday morning with Stanley & Patton. As office manager.

Kath (pushing her chair back and rising)—And you're going to have more money, dear?

Rudy—Yes! More money. Quite a lot more money. In fact, a very nice salary, considering what we've been trying to live on.

Kath (in almost a whisper)—How much?

Rudy—Six thousand!

Kath (clinging to the edge of the table)—Six thousand? What?

Rudy—Six thousand bucks per annum. Hum? What? Shall we pay the damned old bills? (He goes over to her and takes her in his arms.)

Kath.—Oh, Rudy! . . . Rudy! (The doorbell rings.)

Rudy—Who's that?

Kath.—I don't know. (Rudy opens the door, steps outside for a letter.)

Rudy—From Budapest.

Kath.—May be he can send them something now. Poor things! We've refused them so often!

Rudy—It's registered.

Kath.—I'm willing to be sure we were getting the letters. (Rudy opens the letter and reads for a moment. His jaw drops. Making gurgling sounds, he hands it to Katherine.)

Kath.—Oh, dear! Is it anything awful? Oh, dear!

Rudy—Read it!

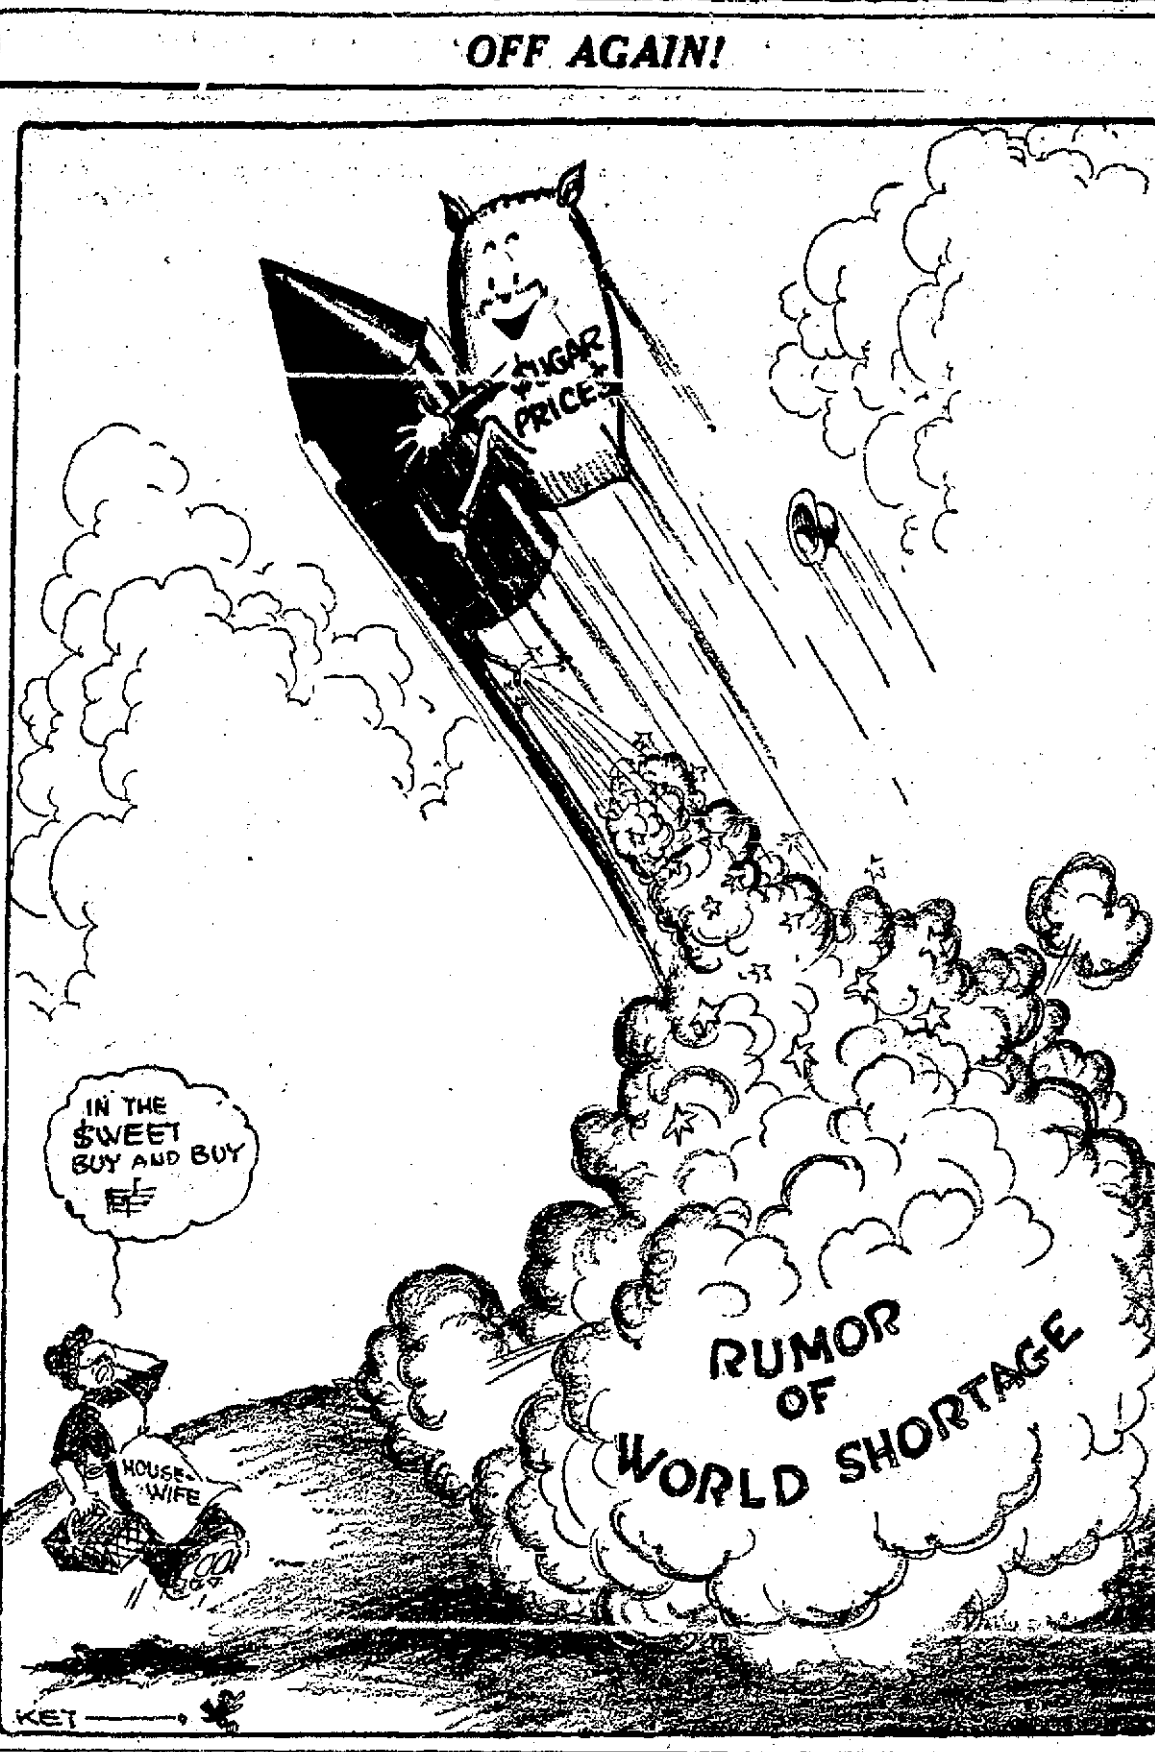

Kath.—Two million dollars! Two million—dollars. . . . Why, you won't have to work! Why, we're rich! . . . What on earth are you looking so glum about?

Rudy—Huh, isn't that just my luck? Just when I get a good job!

The curtain falls, leaving Katherine staring open-mouthed at her husband, who, his face like a thunder-bolt, is looking sulkily at a corner of the rug.)

EXCERPTS from the NATIONAL PRESS

New York Evening Post: "Mr. Arthur Pound's conclusion in the Atlantic that farmers do not work longer than city folk will evoke warm protests from the Middle West, where the long rural day has been bitterly discussed since the railmen won the eight-hour law. No doubt there is a good deal of mere puttering about at certain seasons, which the farmer is likely to mistake for labor; no doubt the farmer falls to allow for the effort a city worker expends in reaching and leaving his employment, and for home work. But a host of farm-borne men in the cities will be the first to dissent from Mr. Pound."

Christian Science Monitor: "Twenty thousand dollars seems a pretty large sum of money to offer for an ancient automobile, and with this incentive it is no wonder that many junk piles in Racine and Milwaukee, Wis., are being turned upside down in the search for a car to fill the requirements, namely: that it be one that was made by a certain C. F. Britzke of Racine in 1899. It appears that the claim is advanced that this old model was constructed with demountable rims, and an example of it is wanted to defend the rights to the use of such wheels on all makes of cars."

New York Sun: "Charles Reade wrote realistically when he had the hero of 'Hard Cash' seized on the eve of his wedding and 'railroaded' to a madhouse. Theodore Winthrop, two years before Reade, sent his heroine, Cecil Dreeme, to a New York insane asylum. This could have happened in the '60s more readily than it can now, in a time when the possibility of such a thing has become more generally realized. In this day and country, the bridegroom or heroine would not so readily be rushed off to confinement without due cause."

Boston Transcript: "The news that President Harding's Administration will favor the application of the Panama Canal to the construction of a second trans-Atlantic waterway will no doubt surprise the country. There will be a disposition to ask, 'Why a second canal?' The Panama Canal is a demonstrated success. Its receipts for the month of January exceeded $1,500,000. It has not, to be sure, paid for itself as a going enterprise."

Chicago News: "Farm labor in the United States is scarce and is becoming scarcer. In the report of a survey by the Federal department of agriculture covering the last three months of 1922 it is shown that, considering the country as a whole, the average wage for day labor on American farms was $1.47 with board and $1.98 without board. The average monthly pay was $27.81 with board and $40.59 without board. This wage scale is probably as high as the farmers can afford to pay."

Detroit Free Press: "Of course, it's heresy, rank heresy in these days when we cannot help but cherish the notion that everybody good by law would accomplish a lot more if they would bear down a little harder on the moral situation; and, mebbe sidetrack conviction in the courts for 'conviction of sin,' as the Methodists used to put it."

ANOTHER VIEW.

To the Editor of The Tribune:

I wonder how many people read the article in Friday evening's issue of The TRIBUNE, giving account of the reception to Clinton R. "Brick" Morse, in Berkeley, on his return from a three-months' tour in Europe?

He says: "France is blind with rage, and the minds of her statesmen are poisoned with hatred, or she would not have invaded the Ruhr district. Revenge for the last war is France's only thought. At the present time France is just as militaristic a country as Germany ever was. Germany has changed since her defeat. Her people now realize that it was militarism that caused all the trouble and she has now settled down to work to pay off her debt."

Can Mr. Morse prove his statements? Yes, he says further: "One of the things that made a great impression on me while I was in Germany was the very kind way I was treated, which was in marked contrast with the discourteous treatment that I received when I visited Germany before the war. . . . couldn't do enough for me. . . . warmly welcomed because I was an American."

Now, I do not wish to appear antagonistic myself towards Germany, but isn't it probable that in the event of another war it would prove the best policy to keep "on the right side" of America, who might otherwise be a dangerous foe?

When I was traveling in Europe with my family before the war, we received, if possible, more courtesy in Germany as Americans than in other countries. Why should they have treated Mr. Morse discourteously at that time?

An article published recently on present conditions in Europe, as observed by a near relative of mine, who has been in France since October, He writes as follows:

"As for the French being warlike and belligerent, I would almost be willing to state positively that such a statement smells strongly of German propaganda."

"If one could surround France with nations no more warlike than herself, in no time at all there wouldn't be a gun or a soldier, save for police protection. France is too fond of production to be an aggressive military nation, and the present-day character of her people is too civilized to get any pleasure out of rattling swords for their own sake. Nor do I think that, with the exception of the Prussians, the Germans are any more warlike."

With regard to the Ruhr seizure, I am not alone in applauding this attempt to salvage something of the debt Germany owes and refuses to pay. I read frequently in the papers, too, of notable men who do not condemn France, but the reverse.

Do not most of us try our best, peaceably, if possible, and if not through the courts, to obtain payment of debts owing to us? What has Germany suffered in comparison with devastated France, many of whose people are still living in dugouts and cellars, because their country has no means to restore their homes?

The American Legion Weekly for January contains a fine editorial on "How France Gets That Way," quoting statements, statistics and explanations by the American ambassador to France. I wish every one who is inclined to favor Mr. Morse's statements could read and digest the article. R. E. M.

TERMINAL CASE FACES NEW MOVE

Union Trust's Cross-Complaint to Foreclosure Action of Mercantile Co. Is Friendly Suit on Valuation

Another legal move in the financial reorganization of the San Francisco-Oakland Terminal Railway was instituted today in the Alameda county superior court with the filing of an answer and cross-complaint on behalf of the Union Trust company, San Francisco, to the suit of foreclosure begun sometime ago by the Mercantile Trust company of San Francisco.

The litigation is declared by attorneys for the traction company and the two trust companies as only a friendly suit to have the courts determine the correct valuation of the properties of the Oakland Terminal Railway and the claims of the many bondholders.

In the answer and cross-complaint filed today the Union Trust company admits the claims filed by the Mercantile Trust company, but declares that the bond issues for which the Union Trust company is trustee constitute a prior claim.

These claims held by the Union Trust company date back as far as 1892, and are bond issues floated by different bondholders floating lines before the consolidation of March, 1912.

SEEK NEW BOND ISSUE.
 The plan of reorganization, it is declared by attorneys, is that 85 to 90 per cent of the bondholders have pooled their interests with the intention of having a new bond issue, each bondholder being allocated by the court his just share in the new issue based on property valuation as determined by the court.

As explained by Attorney Sidney M. Ehrman of Heller, Ehrman, White & McAuliffe, counsel for the Union Trust company, the court will determine a just valuation of the properties and order them sold at not less than this valuation.

The suit of foreclosure was instituted by the Mercantile Trust company on the ground of default in payment of mortgages on the date of maturity. It is claimed that the sum of $645,000 and interest at 7 per cent is due on a mortgage dated June 28, 1914.

Referring to this claim, the Union Trust company declares it is "subsequent, subject, junior and subordinate to liens and mortgages hereafter set forth."

BASIS OF CLAIMS.
 The claims of the Union Trust company are based on the following issues, for which it is trustee:

Oakland Traction Company to Union Trust Company, January 18, 1907; Oakland Traction Consolidated to Union Trust Company, January 2, 1905; Oakland Transit Consolidated to Union Trust Company, July 1, 1902; Oakland, San Leandro and Hayward Electric Railway to California Title Insurance and Trust Company, predecessor of Union Trust Company, March 1, 1892; Twenty-Third Avenue Electric Railway to California Title Insurance and Trust Company, March 5, 1893; Alameda, Oakland and Piedmont Electric Railway Company to same, January 1, 1892; Oakland and San Jose Railway to Union Trust Company, January 2, 1903; San Francisco, Oakland and San Jose Railway to same, January 2, 1905; and San Jose Consolidated Railway to same, May 15, 1908.

The only point at issue in the litigation, it is declared, is contained in paragraph 3 of the answer and cross-complaint and regards interest on the mortgage of $645,000 as held by the Mercantile Trust company. Admitting the claim, it is declared that only 5 per cent and not 7 per cent interest is due from July 1, 1918.

"Master Power" Soon to Be Harnessed, Is Belief of Munich Scientist at U. C.

Experiments Point to Freeing of Energy in Atoms, Hints Sommerfeld.

Is the greatest of all sources of power yet to be developed? Water, power, steam, electricity, radio: Are these but makeshifts to give way when the master source is found and harnessed?

Such questions are asked and an affirmative answer tentatively given to them by Dr. Arnold Sommerfeld, professor at the University of Munich and lecturing now at the University of California. Dr. Sommerfeld has sketched especially for The TRIBUNE the problems he is attacking and the solutions that already appear probable both in exact science and in practical applications that may follow.

Each atom of each element in existence contains energy which, if it could be released, would furnish the world with its new source of power. Dr. Sommerfeld hints that the method of such release may follow experiments now under way. The possibility of changing one element into another, such as phosphorus or calcium into sodium or aluminum, is another prediction.

Dr. Sommerfeld is one of the most famous physicists in the world, a tireless and successful laboratory worker, and the author of some of the most important or modern scientific works.

Dr. Sommerfeld has written his article in such a manner as to make the most technical points in his startling discoveries clear to the lay reader, in order that their significance may be grasped by everyone, and not confined, as is often the case, to the understanding of the scientific world. His article, written specially for The TRIBUNE, is as follows:

DR. ARNOLD SOMMERFELD.
 Professor of Physics, University of Munich.

I am giving a series of lectures at the University of California on various aspects of the general problem of the structure of atoms, of which all matter is composed. All properties of matter depend upon the structure of the atom and so this problem is the most fundamental one in physical science.

Great progress has been made in this subject during the last twenty-five years. The discovery of X-rays and of the phenomenon of radio activity showed that the old idea of a simple indestructible atom could not be true. But this idea was really much older, for all substances, when excited by an electric current, give out light waves of different colors and the exact colors, as we say, the atom emits.

Great progress has been made in this subject during the last twenty-five years. The discovery of X-rays and of the phenomenon of radio activity showed that the old idea of a simple indestructible atom could not be true. But this idea was really much older, for all substances, when excited by an electric current, give out light waves of different colors and the exact colors, as we say, the atom emits.

ADVANCES RAPID.
 Then Niels Bohr of Copenhagen devised the quantum theory of the atomic structure and since then I have added in the development of this theory and have written a book on that subject, "Atomic Structure and Spectral Lines," of which an English translation will appear shortly. So rapidly have advances been made in this subject that it has been necessary to write a new edition of this book each year, and I am presenting to graduate students of the University of California some results which I have obtained since the last edition of my book.

One of the interesting results of this study of the structure of atoms has been a verification of the special theory of relativity as originally proposed by Einstein. This theory predicts, among other things, a change of the mass of a body with its speed, and since in the atom there are small electric charges—electrons—moving with speeds as great as 100,000 miles a second, it is possible to get a very accurate check of this prediction of relativity. I have found that the theory is accurately verified in the atom of hydrogen—the simplest and lightest element known.

MOVEMENTS ARE PROBLEM.
 The next simplest element is helium—the rare gas used recently for filling airships. Since coming to this country I have devised a new model of the atom which I think agrees with experimental facts better than any previous ideas. The general problem is to discover the exact paths in which the electric charges—electrons—are moving in the various atoms. This is what you would have if your money were invested here. On sums from $100 up you may draw your dividend at Six Per Cent per annum in cash every six months. Ask for Prospectus.

Daniel Hayes Land Deal Told in Court

CHICAGO, Feb. 15.—The Daniel Hayes company owned no buildings, tractors, or livestock in Merced county, California, and had no interest in any bank there, H. J. Small, former field manager of the company, testified here today in federal court. Twelve officers of the company, including Daniel Hayes, president, are being tried on the charge of conspiracy to use the mails to defraud.

Federal attorneys declare more than $4,000,000 was made on the California tract of land. Circuit Judge United States District Attorney Edwin L. Wool said were issued by the company and which he read in court, stated that "Mr. Swift, the packer, had sent experts to investigate the land, and that he had purchased a half interest in 40,000 acres."

U. C. Players Choose Galsworthy Drama

BERKELEY, Feb. 15.—After two bills of comedy and farce, the Greek Theater Players of the University of California have selected something more serious for the third production of their spring season. They will give John Galsworthy's powerful drama, "Justice," in which John Barrymore starred when it was first presented in New York.

The play shows the operation of the relentless machinery of the law in the case of a young man who makes a first mistake. It is declared to be in no sense melodramatic or sentimental. Galsworthy does not make Falder, the criminal, a paragon of virtue and all his accusers unreasonably cruel. The characters are all said to be quite human and the play to present a series of incidents so true to life that they are often duplicated. While it is the English courts of which Galsworthy writes, the conditions are declared to be equally true of this country.

"Justice" will be given Monday, February 19, Monday, February 26, and Tuesday, February 27.

SNOW URGES OPEN ZOO ON LAKE BLUFF

Cave Surrounded by Moat to Guard Public, But With No Bars, Suggested to the Lions Club by Big Hunter

An open cave of wild jungle beasts in the cliffs bordering the northeast part of Lake Merritt, with a water-filled moat taking the place of bars so that nothing would interfere with the public view of the animals, is the suggestion of H. A. Snow, famous African big-game hunter, who will supply the jungle beasts, he declares, if the city will supply the cave and the moat.

Snow made the proposal and offer in a talk at the weekly luncheon of the Oakland Lions' Club yesterday, where he was guest of honor and principal speaker. He urged the club members to join with him in recommending the project to the city council.

According to Snow's plan, the city would dig a cave thirty or forty feet in depth in the bluffs along Lakeshore avenue, opposite the Embarcadero, where, he pointed out, the locality is only sparsely inhabited. In this cave he would then place several lions, a rhinoceros, a hippopotamus, and a giraffe or two.

The front of the cave would be open, with no screens or bars between the wild animals and the passersby. Safety would be secured, however, by the construction of a moat in front of the mouth of the cave, and for the animals to leap, and too deep for them to negotiate in any other way. It would be partly filled with water, he said.

Visitors to this "museum" could then stand on the opposite side of the moat, Snow pointed out, and observe the wild animals as freely as if the latter were in their native jungles—and yet in perfect safety.

Snow told the club a number of his experiences in hunting their wild kinsmen in Africa, including one occasion on which a huge lioness, which was charging upon him, seized the muzzle of his rifle in her mouth. A quick shot from a companion, which wounded the lioness, enabled Snow to escape with his life, he said. He now has two of the lioness' cubs in his possession.

Moving pictures which were taken during many of his big-game hunts are to be shown at the auditorium for ten days, beginning Saturday, Snow said.

Unique Recital Depicts '49 Days

A unique entertainment will be given tomorrow evening at the Alameda hall, 506 Fifteenth street, by Rose Harrison, granddaughter of Judge D. O. Shattuck, first superior judge of San Francisco in the early days of California. Miss Harrison has written a number of stories in rhyme, and also a number of short songs, depicting the early-day life of California, and particularly dealing with mines and miners. Her father was a district attorney in Nevada in the early days, and from him she gathered material for many of her stories. Miss Harrison will recite some of these stories in rhyme and sing some of her songs at the entertainment at Alameda hall tomorrow evening.

Some of the stories Miss Harrison will recite tomorrow evening have been told from The TRIBUNE's radio tower. This sort of entertainment, by radio, was considered unique until it was begun by KLX almost a year ago. Miss Harrison's stories proved very popular with the radio audience.

FERRYBOAT HAYWARD IS LAUNCHED

Steamer Will Be On Bay Run in Month for Key Route; Vessel to Accommodate 3000; Record On Speed

(Special to The TRIBUNE.)
SAN PEDRO, Feb. 15.—Under the auspices of the Hayward Chamber of Commerce and officials of the San Francisco-Oakland Terminal Railway, the new half-million-dollar steamer "Hayward," the first turbo-electric ferryboat ever built, was launched here today.

The vessel was christened with a bottle of California wine by Miss Chandler Oswill, Hayward high school girl. Miss Oswill won the honor in a popularity contest held in Hayward recently.

Fifty members of the Hayward Chamber of Commerce who, accompanied by a band, had traveled down for the launching in an auto caravan, shouted themselves hoarse as the new ferry steamer began to move.

FASTEST FERRYBOAT.

The new boat is said to be the fastest ferryboat constructed, and will develop a speed of 13 knots. It is 240 feet in length over all, and has passenger accommodations for 3000 persons. It was designed by John Matthews of San Francisco.

The "Hayward" will be placed on the Oakland-San Francisco run in about a month. At about the same time a sister ship, the "San Leandro," now under construction here, will be launched.

The vessel was pronounced "satisfactory in every way" by company engineers who accompanied W. R. Alberger, general manager of the San Francisco-Oakland Terminal Railway on a tour of inspection after the launching.

CHRISTEN'S STEAMER.

The new ferryboat left the ways of the Los Angeles Shipbuilding Corporation at 9 o'clock this morning. A few minutes before that time Miss Oswill, carrying a huge bouquet of spring blossoms, was escorted to the launching stand by Alberger and Mark A. W. Lee, secretary of the Hayward Chamber of Commerce. The pretty sponsor smashed a bottle of California wine against the "Hayward's" bow as the vessel took the water for the first time.

Music by the six picked accordion players who accompanied the Hayward delegation was carried by radio to the Hayward Chamber of Commerce, where hundreds of citizens were awaiting news of the launching.

Sugar Is Down 25 Cents With "None for Sale"

Wholesale Price Drops From $8.90 to $8.65; Refiners Out of Market.

Sugar took a drop today of 25 cents from its high wholesale mark of $8.90 per 100 pounds yesterday and was quoted at $8.65 by both the California and Hawaiian Sugar Refining Corporation and the Western Sugar Refinery. The refiners still kept up the sign "withdrawn from market" and said there was no sugar for sale.

The $8.90 per 100 pound rate, which was put in effect yesterday morning by the Western Sugar Refinery was not met by the California and Hawaiian Sugar Refining Corporation. The figure was a purely tentative one based to meet gyrations in the raw sugar market of New York, which is believed to be in great part in control of speculators, notwithstanding prediction of a sugar shortage by the Department of Commerce and the Cuban government experts.

ARMAMENT PARLEY DENIED

RIO JANEIRO, Feb. 15.—The minister of foreign affairs yesterday denied that negotiations were proceeding between Chile, Argentina and Brazil on the question of disarmament.

QUARRY ROW IS HEARD BY COUNCILMEN

The quarry quarrel came up today in the city council, where citizens from North Oakland appeared for the fourth time in protest against the maintenance of the Oakland Paving Company's quarry and asphalt plant, especially the latter.

After speeches by several attorneys and citizens, the matter was set over two weeks. The asphalt plant, it was agreed, would shut down this afternoon.

Attorneys W. H. Donahue and James M. Koford, for the paving company, asserted it was willing to meet with the residents with a view to compromise, but the residents were reluctant to agree to this. Attorney Everett Brown, for the residents, suggested that the attorneys hold conference. This was finally agreed by Attorney John Scott, representing the residents.

The Oakland Paving Company was alleged to have put a muffler on the asphalt mill, to deaden the noise and hold down the dust. Mrs. Lillian Hughes showed the council pictures "before" and "after" the alleged dust-remover was installed.

Listen, World

THE other day someone who signed himself "A Married Man" sent me the following list of "Don'ts for Husbands." I have thought of a good many husbandly don'ts myself, but this list held some new angles to the game. Being written by a man it is particularly interesting and I shall try to put it on.

DON'TS FOR HUSBANDS.
1. Don't expect a girl to be any different from yourself, nor from her own family environment. Hence, if you want her different you will have to train her—by loving, companionship leadership and comradeship.

2. Don't when you have got the best of a man ever allow him to feel that he is not the victor. Hence, don't ever allow any attitude between you and her except perfect, co-equal partnership. If you can't help, as I can not, seeing and admiring Pretty Legs, do so only in perfect frankness—with her opinions as welcome as your own.

3. Don't ever both be bilious at the same time. Make your spirits at all times "dove-tail" in each other. This explains that sacred, complete understanding you see so often between two old pals 40 years or more together.

4. Don't forget that a love marriage necessarily makes for you and her two worlds. Yours with her is the bigger and better, and all the rest of us are outside in the other one.

5. Don't stop those cute and loving things you used to say and do when you were courting her. You should even add somewhat to them when inside the sacred bonds—as, for instance, when she is sitting reading, sneak up and kiss her on the back of the neck. It will do wonders. Try it. One such will do perhaps for a year, but it is worth it. It creates an air of complete understanding between you both, and brushes away all the cobwebby stuff that so often balls up into a "fuss".

6. Don't forget that the least concern of your Creator is babies. But also, in the same breath, He made motherhood for that sacred duty. And that, in that most holy triumvirate, child—mother—father, you can be just as big and brave and strong and clean and sweet as is in you without losing anything, because, forsooth, your place must yield to theirs.
7. Don't forget that motherhood, no matter how or when come by, is sacred. Let it be for ever to the infancy of our times that motherhood is ever considered outcast. Rather let us men, because we are so strong and because our little women are so precious, keep the sacred stream clean by our very strength—even over ourselves.
Pretty good stuff, eh, World?

THE CIRCUS LOT IN WINTER TIME

MY FAVORITE STORIES by IRVIN S. COBB

Some Lessons in Letter Writing.
Thackeray had the faculty for saying a great deal in a few words. Under certain circumstances he also could draw upon a tremendous reserve force of tact. Once upon a time a young and ambitious person who was the son of one of Thackeray's dear friends, wrote a book, or what he fondly thought might make a book. He asked the author of "Vanity Fair" to pass on its merits. Thackeray took the great mass of closely-written sheets. Next day he returned it to the author with this note:

"My dear young friend: I have read your manuscript, and I wish to tell you that, differently arranged, the same words which you used here, have before now constituted literature."
I can think of at least two American writers who, under somewhat similar conditions, likewise had recourse to diplomacy in softening the blow for well-meaning amateurs. Ambrose Bierce was asked by a young Californian to pass judgment upon the latter's first published work. After reading it, Bierce summed up his review in the following lines:

"The main criticism which I would offer is that the copy of this volume are entirely too far apart."

And there is the famous instance of the distinguished dramatist and producer who received a script from a man who thought he could write for the stage. With this conclusion the professional playwright found himself unable to agree. In returning the offering he accompanied it with a letter reading as follows:

"My dear Sir:
I have read your play.
"Oh, my dear Sir!
"Yours truly."

HARRIET and the PIPER

Level-Headed Love Stolen Love Tempestuous Love

By Kathleen Norris

"Say, listen, are we going to dress?" asked Amy. Nina, instantly diverted, suggested that they go in. Nina's awkward big nose and Amy's mousy neutral tones were as well displayed in one garment as another, but both girls debated over pinks and blues, crepes and mulls, every evening, as if the world was watching them alone. Harriet lingered for only a word.

"Mr. Carter, it occurred to me that old Mrs. Singleton is going to California, in her own car, tomorrow. Would it be possible to let Nina and Amy and the household generally think—"

"Yes," he encouraged her as she paused dubiously. He had risen to his feet, and fixed his tired eyes on her face.
"I was wondering if we might confide in Mrs. Singleton—she was always very fond of Mrs. Carter—and give out the impression that Mrs. Carter had suddenly decided to make the trip with her."

"That's an idea," Richard said, thoughtfully. "I could see Mrs. Singleton tonight—and talk it over."
"It might serve for only a few days," Harriet submitted.

"Yes, I see," he agreed, slowly. "Well, I can give Nina a hint now!" Harriet said, going. The late golden sunshine struck her bright hair to an aureole, as she went up the brick steps and disappeared.

But it was too late for any soothing deception of Nina. A scene was in full progress in Nina's bedroom, and Harriet's eye had only to go from the prone form on the bed to the crushed newspaper that had drifted to the floor, to know that the secret was out. Isabella's face, radiant and happy, looked out from the page. It was flanked by two smaller pictures, Richard's and Anthony Pope's. Harriet could see the big letters: "Young Millionaire—Wife of Richard Carter."

The deluge was upon them. "Oh—it's a lie—it's a lie! My beautiful little mother!" Nina was sobbing. "Oh, no, it's not true! It's a lie. Oh, how shall I ever hold up my head again—to be disgraced—now just when I'm so young—and—ha—ha—happy!"

"Nina, my child, control yourself!" Harriet, ignoring the starting and pale-faced Amy, set down the milk pail and went out to the barn and fed the cows and milked them, and Jubilee sat up on the setting-up end of himself and opened his face and I milked a lot of squirts into him and told him that he was a valentine. Then I wondered what Youngs thought when she got her valentine and then I felt glad that I had given Hopper a valentine.

When I had strained the milk and had fed my face and snuck some pancakes out for Jubilee we didn't want to get to school till six because I was afraid Youngs would thank me before everybody. I wish she would but I will be kinda ashamed if she does. Miss Parmer was glad to see me and she said I was looking happy. I said I was happy because I had had a good valentine day, and I would not have had a good one and been happy if it had not been for her. She wanted to know how many I got and I told her I did not get any except the one she gave me, but that I gave that one and another one away and that made me happy even if I do own a half a dollar. She patted me on the head and said that I was a good boy and that I was a good lesson about the way to be happy was by making other people happy.

I stayed down by the school corner with Jubilee till I heard the school bell ringing and then I ran and went into the house so fast that I bumped against the end of it so hard that Nibs, who was at the front end of it fell down on the step, and he got up and came running at me.

I was too quick for him and ran and got at the head of the line and Miss Deglin told him to go to bed. He had to stay in at recess and when I was past his desk he said he would catch me. I was too quick for him and I ran and got out the back way.

So when school let out I sat on the front step and waited for him, and Youngs sat by me.

She wanted to know how many I got and I told her I did not get any except the one she gave me, but that I gave that one and another one away and that made me happy even if I do own a half a dollar. She patted me on the head and said that I was a good boy and that I was a good lesson about the way to be happy was by making other people happy.

I stayed down by the school corner with Jubilee till I heard the school bell ringing and then I ran and went into the house so fast that I bumped against the end of it so hard that Nibs, who was at the front end of it fell down on the step, and he got up and came running at me.

I was too quick for him and ran and got at the head of the line and Miss Deglin told him to go to bed. He had to stay in at recess and when I was past his desk he said he would catch me. I was too quick for him and I ran and got out the back way.

So when school let out I sat on the front step and waited for him, and Youngs sat by me.

some pancakes out for Jubilee we didn't want to get to school till six because I was afraid Youngs would thank me before everybody. I wish she would but I will be kinda ashamed if she does. Miss Parmer was glad to see me and she said I was looking happy. I said I was happy because I had had a good valentine day, and I would not have had a good one and been happy if it had not been for her. She wanted to know how many I got and I told her I did not get any except the one she gave me, but that I gave that one and another one away and that made me happy even if I do own a half a dollar. She patted me on the head and said that I was a good boy and that I was a good lesson about the way to be happy was by making other people happy.

"Think how your father and Ward will look to you!"
Acting, all of it, said Harriet in her soul. But despite the youthful appetite for heroics, there was real tears in Nina's eyes, as there had been in her grandmother's a few hours ago.

"Yes, that's true!" she said, wiping a swollen face on the handkerchief Harriet supplied. "But oh—I don't believe it, and my father will sue them for libel, you see if he doesn't! My mother's the purest and sweetest and best woman alive—and I'll kill any one who says any different!"

"Oh—oo, to see it in the paper there, right on the bed," said Amy. In her ready, colorless little voice, as Nina spoke suddenly. "O—oo, I thought Nina would die!" Nina began to cry again, but more quietly. "I guess I had better go—"

Amy finished, plaintively. "Oh, no!" said Nina in a choked voice, as she clung to her friend. "No, darling! you stay with me. Oh, I must go see my father, and my poor, poor grandmother. Oh, Amy, perhaps you had better go, for my family will need me to-night. My mother—" said Nina, crying again.

She and Amy parted solemnly, with many kisses.

"It's a thing that might happen to me, or to any girl," said Amy, gravely. Harriet had an upsetting vision of stout, high-busted Mrs. Hawkes, panting as she discussed the details of the Red Cross drive, but she was very sympathetic with the young girl and even agreed with Nina, when Amy was gone, that it would be much more sensible to take her bath, and put on her white organdie, and then go and her father.

They dined almost silently, and were about to disperse quietly for the night, after an hour of half-hearted conversation in the drawing room, obviously endured by Richard simply for his mother's sake, when Ward burst in. He had traveled almost four hundred miles by motor that day, his face was streaked with dirt and oil, and he was ghastly with fatigue. He went straight to his father.

"Say, what's all this?" he said, in a voice hardly recognizable. Harriet saw that he had been drinking. "I got your wire, and I thought the water was sick, perhaps. My God—that worried me!" he broke off bitterly. "Blondin came with me; we stopped on the road for dinner, and the man had a paper there. Is that what you wanted me for—I don't believe it! It's a dirty lie, and the blunder that put that in the paper."

"I'm glad you came home, my boy," Richard said. "I've been waiting for you."
Harriet heard no more; she slipped from the room. There were genuine tears in her own eyes now, for the boy had hung himself face downward against a great chair, and was crying. All the household knew it; Harriet could read it in Blondin's carefully usual manner and quiet speech. In the little music room across the hall Royal Blondin was waiting.

"Oh, frightful!" Harriet agreed. A rather flat silence ensued. She seemed to have nothing to say to Royal now.

But she was not surprised when a moment later Nina came softly in, the picture of girlish distress, with her wet eyes and fresh white gown.

"I thought it best to leave Ward with Granny and Father," Nina said, in vague explanation, going straight to Blondin, who rose, dusty and weary, but with a solicitous manner that was infinitely soothing.

"I hoped you wouldn't mind just seeing me," he said in a low tone. "I'm not quite family, and yet I felt myself nearer than all the neighbors and friends, eh?"

"I shan't see any one for ages," Nina murmured, plaintively, "but you—you're different."

"And shall we talk about her sometimes?" Royal pursued, still close to her, and holding both her hands. "As she was, beautiful and sweet and good. For who are you and I, Little Girl, to judge what passion—what love will do with human hearts?"

"Yes, I know," Nina, who never could keep pace with him, said mournfully.

Clarice Patterns

Smart Blouse and Skirt.
(No. 1651, 1249).

The pattern for this smart blouse No. 1651 can be had in sizes 34, 36, 38, 40, 42 and 44 inches bust-measure. 2 3/4 yards 40-inch material is enough to make the blouse in the 36-inch size. The skirt pattern No. 1249 is cut in sizes 26, 28, 30 and 32 inches waist measure and requires in the 28-inch size 3 1/4 yards 40-inch material. The blouse and skirt patterns are for 30 cents or each for 15 cents.

If you are slender, medium or a bit overweight, the surplus closing of this blouse, which is not wholly unlike the popular jacquette blouse, except in that it is a bit more distinctive, will be found becoming. To take away too severe an effect over bust a double band is stitched on each side of the front, giving a tuck effect. The skirt may be made plain or with the pleated panels as shown in the sketch.

The problem connected with these nine numbered squares consists in counting the number of different ways in which the total of 15 may be reached by adding from block to block in a continuous line, which may run up and down, right and left, or diagonally, but not crossing through a block twice. For instance, 1, 2, 4, 5, 3 equals 15; again, 1, 5, 9 equals 15. How many other lines can you find that will produce 15?

SUGAR IS PEGGED DOWN 25 CENTS TO $8.65 RATE

Coast Refiners Declare They Are Still Out of Market; Nothing for Sale.

The wholesale price of sugar has apparently temporarily stabilized itself at $8.65 per 100 pounds. At this rate the figure pegged on today by both the California and Hawaiian sugar refiners corporation and the Western Sugar Refinery. They at that time had no sugar for sale of the market and that there was no sugar for sale.

On the New York Stock Exchange today the sugar futures were quoted: March 4.60, July 4.70, September 4.80, December 4.90.

The Warner Sugar company of New York announced a price of $8.50 for refined, being an advance of 1 cent over two days ago. The American Sugar company also announced the eastern market on an $8.50 basis.

MADE FOR GENERAL LABOR RISING RAPIDLY

Unskilled Workers Already Getting 10 Cents An Hour More Than Year Ago.

By Consolidated Press
Special to TRIBUNE.

By J. C. ROYLE.

NEW YORK, Feb. 15.—The increase in labor costs, regarded as inevitable by those in closest touch with industrial conditions and predicted months back in these columns, has already commenced. Common labor in the central middle west now is getting 28.9 cents an hour, an increase of nearly 10 cents an hour from a year ago. Farmers throughout the northwest are offering increased wages to farm hands. In many cases the building trade has increased beginning June 1 and labor in the steel mills and industrial plants has become so uneasy that executives are exercising every possible method short of an actual announced increase to hold their payrolls intact.

LABOR COSTS HIGH.

The reason is plainly evidenced in the telegraphic reports received within the last twenty-four hours. The market for labor is a seller's market. For example, in the Cleveland district thirty-six out of 100 plants employing normally more than 500 men each expect to increase their working forces before the end of this month. Akron tire makers have announced that they are going to shove their production up to 150,000 tires a day and they have to have extra workers to do so.

The scheduled Ford production in Detroit of 540 cars a day will be exceeded and the Ford company aims at a 600-car a day rate by April 1. More workers must be employed to gain those ends. The growth of the Ford payrolls is being felt proportionately in every other industrial line in the Detroit section, according to reports from there. Investigators who have been working in Detroit and who have been trying to convince themselves that there would be a let-down in automobile production are going away disappointed. They have found their answer in the evidence that plants are determined to store up raw materials in order to be sure to have enough cars on hand to meet next summer's demand.

BUILDING EXPANSION.

The building program for the year has been estimated by some competent observers at more than $5,000,000,000. Carpenters in Detroit are asking $15 an hour. Bricklayers who got $10 a day under the present scale and who by working one employer against another have been getting more than that, are said to have decided on a minimum of $20 a day after April 1 with overtime. Leaders in the building movement on a piece work basis by which some of them, it is claimed, will make from $30 to $45 a day.

Record building operations highway construction, railway improvement work and mining will cause a decided scarcity of labor in the building trades. According to reports today from St. Paul, building operations in the Twin Cities alone are expected to exceed $75,000,000. More than 50,000,000 tons of iron ore will be produced and nonferrous metals will be produced in Montana, Utah, California, Idaho, Arizona and Colorado at a relatively increased rate.

BIG ROAD PROGRAM.

Highway improvements alone will total hundreds of millions of dollars and the labor normally employed is scarce and bids for men are high. Government irrigation and reclamation work will furnish employment at increased rates. Farmers all over the country are already striving for more help and are being forced to pay increased wages to secure it. The south with an increased cotton acreage estimated as high as 25 per cent, is not only short of hands and is willing to pay for them.

Steel mills are rejecting more business than they are booking simply because they cannot get men to turn out the finished products. But in the middle west, plants are rushing production and are fighting desperately against a shortened working week, which for the moment has assumed more importance than increased wages. Lumber camps all over the south and west are seeking workers and are paying more for them.

COMMODITY NEWS

By Consolidated Press.

HOUSTON, Texas, Feb. 15.—Estimates of the acreage to be planted to cotton this year in Texas indicate today an increase of from 15 to 25 per cent. There is a good demand for cotton in the east but holders are firm in their determination not to sell under 30 cents.

SAN DIEGO, Feb. 15.—Cotton here declared today that estimate of cotton crop from Lower California and from the Imperial valley on this side of the Mexican boundary are more than 30 per cent too high. Importations from Mexican plantations through Mexicali are considerably below forecasts.

LUMBER.

PORTLAND, Ore., Feb. 15.—Bookings of two large cargoes of railroad ties aggregating 2,100,000 board feet for India on the Japanese steamers Meigai Maru and Yoshida Maru, has been announced. This will be the first lumber shipped from Columbia River to India for some time.

GRAIN.

ST. PAUL, Minn., Feb. 15.—Plans for the operation of three large steam power by the Northwestern Wheat Growers' Association which will market a large amount of wheat, flax and rye are now under way here.

OIL.

PITTSBURGH, Pa., Feb. 15.—A price war is in evidence in the northern Pennsylvania crude oil market today. Open quotations of producers' companies have been reduced and are readily followed by independents with prices being paid for oil.

RENGEL'S COPPER COMPANY

REPORTS BANNER YEAR.

RENGEL'S COPPER COMPANY reports its 1922 production at 2,500,000 pounds of copper, an increase of 2,500,000 pounds over 1921.

The value of the metal produced was $2,116,000 and production and sales were valued at $2,000,000, equal to a productive cost of 12.21 cents a pound.

The company was enabled to carry a balance of $190,840 to profit and loss after writing off $90,749 of depreciation and compensation.

The directors soon will establish an eight dollar dividend rate annually on the issue which will equal the payment in force before the recent 50 per cent stock dividend was made.

The company, which made record highs under American Can at 93 1/2, Couden at 84 1/2, and North American at 114 1/2.

Stocks maintained the buoyancy throughout the morning. Steel common resumed the lead of the market for noon, advancing 1/2.

The market for steel was a seller's market. For example, in the Cleveland district thirty-six out of 100 plants employing normally more than 500 men each expect to increase their working forces before the end of this month.

Record building operations, highway construction, railway improvement work and mining will cause a decided scarcity of labor in the building trades.

BUSINESS FINANCE

STERLING today displayed complete indifference to the growing complexity of the Ruhr situation, advancing to a new 1923 high at 84 1/2. With a slight exception this is the highest level since the British government withdrew its support from the market in March, 1922. The demonstration of the absence of apprehension in financial circles over the continental complications gave renewed impetus to the operations for the rise in the New York stock market at the opening.

Dupont jumped 5 1/2 to a record high for the present stock at 125. The market for steel was a seller's market. For example, in the Cleveland district thirty-six out of 100 plants employing normally more than 500 men each expect to increase their working forces before the end of this month.

factories—our standards not lowered—AND—our prices not raised! Then—and only then—we told the public and the clothing industry! Read the result!

Foreman and Clark remained silent on a certain subject during November, December and January! That subject was: "Will clothing prices be higher this spring?" Everybody knew that woolen prices had jumped UP. Some people knew that wholesale clothing costs had also jumped UP. And the clothing industry wasted no time to broadcast the news. Pages were published. Prophecies were made. Warnings were sounded. "Get ready for high prices" was wolf-wolfed across the land! And still the largest makers-and-retailers of men's clothing in the world made no statement. We had nothing to say at that time. We were much too busy to either affirm or deny. We considered it far more important to give the public the greatest clothing value in America, than to lend ourselves to the greatest clothing propaganda in America. We deemed it a much better job to cram guaranteed savings into the pockets of half a million buyers, than to jam warnings down their throats. We knew that we could do more good by rolling up the phenomenal coast-to-coast gain of 70% in dollars-and-cents volume for 1922 (and thus prepare ourselves to absorb any increase in the textile market) than by stirring up a lot of "3rd alarms" to prepare the public to absorb it! Then the time came—our plans complete—spring merchandise actually in work in our own four New York

This store is full of new clothes. Many merchants will publish that statement next April—Foreman and Clark publish it now!

These clothes were produced in New York, by our own tailors, in our own factories. They come to this big upstairs store direct—less than three weeks after the labels were sewn in and the last hand-iron lifted from the smooth lapels!

If anybody else had them—he would call them advance spring models. We call them just complete new stocks for February—our February models—six weeks or so ahead of the clothing industry.

That's the regular Foreman and Clark routine—new stocks every week—complete new stocks every six weeks—no old lots—no undesirable styles—learn what the public wants in our retail stores from coast to coast—give them what they want a couple of months ahead of anybody else—ten dollars lower than anybody else—make every customer a booster—treat him like a friend—stand behind our written guarantee of satisfaction—and let the rest of the world try to catch up.

Three men met at the top of our stairs the other day. One man had just bought a topcoat, one a suit, one an overcoat. They were friends. One said, "I came up here after looking over all the clearance sales in town and saved $10 on a new coat over any old stocks I saw anywhere." The next said, "I wanted a light weight coat and knew I could buy it here from bigger stocks at a lower price regardless of season!" The third said, "I always buy a new suit here in February—get the same patterns other stores show next April—avoid looking shabby between seasons—no juggled prices here, either—all fixed for now and next spring—keep couple of jumps ahead."

All that is old—to those who know us. Here is something new:

The overcoats and top-coats men are buying here today were made since the increase in woolen costs you've heard so much about. We paid more for the wools, but you pay no more for the clothes. In six weeks or two months, clothes made on this new market will begin to appear elsewhere throughout the retail clothing industry. Those clothes will cost from $5 to $15 more per garment than the same quality last year. (That isn't our prediction—it's the self-advertised warning which so many members of the clothing industry have shouted at you).

In other words, Foreman and Clark have absorbed, within their own organization, the increased prices of the woolen market. Tremendous volume enabled us to do it. With tremendous gains in volume! (100,000 new customers last year.) Remember—we are the largest makers-and-retailers of men's clothing in the world.

That is important information to everybody—one clothing institution not wheeling higher prices from the public in spite of the best reasons in the world. But there is still bigger news on this page. It follows below. Read it!

The biggest piece of news on this page is this: While Foreman and Clark have not raised their prices to meet the increased woolen market, neither have we slackened a single standard of production. The same guarantee is in the pocket. The same foremost mills of America and England gave us the best of their looms. The same hand tailoring goes into each garment—36 hand operations in building a suit—29 in a topcoat or overcoat. Only silver lining and linen or silk and Belgian haircloth in the inner front. Only the finest grade of mohair or silk lining. More styles than ever because of greater volume—our fourth factory now in operation—5000 garments per week. A greater garment than ever—a bigger season than ever—the same good old prices—in the same big upstairs store that upset local clothing standards nine years ago and has done the same ever since.
